CURRENT BOARD STATUS – 1 APPOINTMENT

The Denver Preschool Program supports Denver families by offering tuition credits to increase access to high quality preschool. Unlike most preschool tuition assistance programs, the Denver Preschool Program is for all Denver families, regardless of income or neighborhood. Tuition credits are available to families that reside within the City and County of Denver and have a 4-year-old enrolled in a participating preschool program in the year before kindergarten. The amount of support a family receives is based on the family's income, the quality rating of the preschool the child attends and the length of day a child attends. The Denver Preschool Program works to improve the quality of preschool in Denver and is a national advocate for equal access to early childhood education.

Mayor appoints 10-14 board members and City Council confirms appointments. City Council appoints 1 Council Member.
