As a 5th Denverite and a proud member of the LGBTQ community, my commitment to this city is both personal and multi-generational. I am seeking to join the Denver LGBTQ Commission to leverage my deep background in public policy and community affairs to advocate for the equity and visibility of our community.

My career has been spent at the intersection of government and community impact. I have served in senior political roles for Speaker Nancy Pelosi, Congresswoman Diana DeGette, Senator Joyce Foster, Mayors Webb and Mayor Hancock.

Recently, I joined Comcast as their Executive Director of Government and Community Affairs following six years in a similar capacity at Verizon. This private-sector experience, combined with my roots in public service, allows me to bridge the gap between corporate resources and community needs. I am eager to bring this strategic lens to the Commission, ensuring that Denver remains a national leader in LGBTQ inclusion, safety, and opportunity for the next five generations and beyond. Currently, I live in Central Park with my dog Milo.
