SERIES OF 2016

COUNCIL BILL NO. CB16-0566
COMMITTEE OF REFERENCE:
Neighborhoods and Planning

A BILL

For an ordinance designating 1400 Lafayette Street, the First Unitarian Society of Denver Church, as a structure for preservation.

WHEREAS, pursuant to D.R.M.C. Section 30-4, the Landmark Preservation Commission has transmitted to the Council a proposed designation of a structure for preservation; and

WHEREAS, based upon evidence received by the Landmark Preservation Commission at a hearing on July 5, 2016, the staff report, and evidence received at the hearing before City Council on August 15, 2016, the First Unitarian Society of Denver Church at 1400 Lafayette Street (“Church”) meets the criteria for designation as a structure for preservation as set out in D.R.M.C. Section 30-3, as amended, by:

(1) History.

a. Having a direct association with the historical development of the city, state, or nation;

The First Unitarian Society of Denver has a long history of social justice work that has been important to the development of the city, with their work often having broader implications. In its early days, the congregation was involved in the Women’s Suffrage Movement and had strong ties with early charitable organizations. Since occupying the building at 1400 Lafayette in 1958, the congregation has been active and influential in a variety of issues, including racial justice, the gay rights movement and marriage equality, women’s rights, and immigration justice. The First Unitarian Society of Denver has a historical role of serving as an incubator space for nonprofit organizations dedicated to social justice issues. In the 1970s, it created a “Shared Center” in its basement and in the adjacent two homes to the north as a concerted effort to help these issues.

b. Having direct and substantial association with a person or group of persons who had influence on society;

The First Unitarian Society of Denver (while located at 1400 Lafayette Street) has been directly and substantially associated with a number of people who have had an influence on society. Former Colorado Governor Richard D. Lamm and First Lady Dottie Lamm were members of the congregation during the 1960s and were married in the Church in 1963. A number of congregation members have

1 been involved in acts of civil disobedience in recent years. First Unitarian Society of Denver Minister
2 Richard Henry was arrested in a protest related to the Vietnam War. Congregation member Helen
3 Wolcott, among others, was instrumental in the local Civil Rights Movement in the 1960s. She was a
4 founding member of the local Congress of Racial Equality, organized picketing in protest of unfair hiring
5 practices, and worked for equality in education and real estate practices.

6 (2) Architecture.

7 a. Embodying distinguishing characteristics of an architectural style or type;

8 The Church, constructed in the 1890s, is an outstanding example of a Richardsonian Romanesque
9 style building. The style is seen in the configuration and massing, the masonry, and windows. The 10 use of rough-faced Ashlar masonry is a primary characteristic of the Richardsonian Romanesque
11 style. The stone material itself is a wonderful vernacular component of the church's history, as the 12 Rhyolite stone utilized on the façade was quarried in Castle Rock, Colorado. The Church also 13 contains stylistically distinguishing features of the Richardson Romanesque style in its wide rounded
14 arches, recessed entryways, and parapeted gable dormers.

15 b. Being a significant example of the work of a recognized architect or master builder;

16 This Capitol Hill/Cheesman Park landmark is a significant example of the work of well-known local 17 architects Ernest Varian and Frederick Sterner. Ernest Varian designed the Zion Baptist Church in 18 1882, and then in 1885 formed a partnership with Frederick J. Sterner. As noted in the Colorado
19 Architects Biographical Sketch, "the firm of Varian and Sterner went on to become one of Denver's
20 most prominent architectural designers with many listings in the Denver Building Fees files." Notable 21 buildings designed by the firm include the Denver Athletic Club at 1325 Glenarm, the First Church
22 of Christ Scientist at 14th and Logan Streets, and a variety of homes throughout the Denver area.
23 Landmark works designed by Frederick Sterner include the Daniels and Fisher Tower, the Pearce-
24 McCall Cottage, and the Tears-McFarland House. The Church also contains a unique and historic 25 example of the work of Watkins Stained Glass Studio. The striking rose window on the south façade
26 was designed and fabricated by Clarence Watkins in 1893 and carefully restored by his great-
27 grandson Phillip Watkins, Jr. after a major fire damaged it in 1985.

28 (3) Geography

29 a. Having a prominent location or being an established, familiar and orienting visual feature
30 of the contemporary city;

31 The Church sits at the corner of 14th Avenue and Lafayette Street. It lies in the heart of Denver's
32 Capitol Hill, just one block south of Colfax Avenue. The Church is directly adjacent to 14th Avenue,

1 which is also an important thoroughfare in Denver that travels one way (west to east). With its 2 Richardsonian Romanesque architecture and Castle Rock Rhyolite bricks, the Church is a highly
3 recognizable building along the 14th Avenue corridor. The “castle-like” building is a strong orienting
4 element along 14th Avenue and in Capitol Hill. Although the Church lies in proximity to a variety of 5 historic districts and buildings, it is unique in its architecture for the surrounding area. As such, the 6 Church is notable to passersby on 14th Avenue. In providing directions to the Church, members
7 frequently find that would-be visitors are familiar with the Church and have noted it as a visual 8 reference in passing on prior occasions.

9 NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ENACTED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY AND COUNTY OF
