

Historic Denver's Petition to Save the Beth Eden Church:

Beth Eden Church has stood at 3241 Lowell since 1892, and the current Tudor Revival style 1931 building has been a recognized and orienting feature and a cultural and architectural landmark for the West Highlands Community for 83 years.

The preservation of the church structure will contribute to the dynamic between old and new that creates vibrancy in our city. Retaining the church is sustainable and contributes significantly to the character of the neighborhood. The incorporation of this structure into a future development adds value to the project and to the community.

I support the preservation of the Beth Eden Church building at 3241 Lowell Boulevard.

5	Elizabeth	Emmens	1 mile	The Beth Eden church's contribution to the West Highland neighborhood is a physical manifestation of the spirit of the West Highlands community and its values. It welcomes neighbors, visitors and passers by each and every day - telling all of us: "You are welcome here." Religious or not, our churches & architecture tell the story of who we are as a community. Beth Eden can be preserved and re-infused with the life that it once actively provide our community - if given the respect it deserves. This church is important to the sense of who we are - where we have been, who we say we are to future residents and visitors and what we value. It must be preserved.

7	Mary D.	Bergstrom	10 miles	I used to work in the area and I am currently a realtor. Preserving structures like Beth Eden add character to our neighborhoods and help to identify neighborhoods rather than areas like Highlands Ranch that have no identity and few landmarks.
8	Paul	Cloyd	1 mile
9	M. C.	Hendrick	1/2 mile	Thank you to Historic Denver for taking the necessary steps in preserving Beth Eden church and bringing awareness to this effort by uniting neighbors in helping save this church from being torn down. It's not often that we have the opportunity to keep a recognizable historic structure from the wrecking ball. These unique, seasoned, architecturally-sound structures deserve a place in the history of this beautiful neighborhood. With more and more older homes being razed, we are losing the appeal and integrity of our area which is why many of us moved into this part of Denver. The Highlands, Berkeley, Sunnyside, etc. neighborhoods have become targets for mass destruction by developers who have no stake in our area other than that of making more bang for the buck. While there are some architecturally-appealing homes/duplexes being built on lots that once housed homes that have had their day in the sun, the majority (90-95%) of the houses/structures being built do not have architectural plans other than the 'build a box' plans as in Sunset magazine for ex. They stick out like a sore thumb w/ho congruency w/other houses in the area.

11	Tom	Quinn	1/2 mile	Including the Beth Eden structure will enhance any development and link the future to the past.
12	Jim	Hendrick	1/2 mile	This is a historic landmark that needs to be preserved as a reflection of the history and character of this beautiful neighborhood. With all the disposal architecture going up, i.e. boxes that are already outdated, it's important that we retain some of the original architecture that put the Highlands area on the map.

14	Jonathan	Ford	1/2 mile	I live within a block & 1/2 of this Historic Church. We have already seen 2/3rds of this property torn down and now is a gaping hole in our neighborhood. As a long term NW Denver resident (17+ years) I strongly oppose more demolition of our historic structures - be they residential, commercial, or non-profit. 40	Greg	Bettridge	5 miles	I, in fact, live about 1.5 miles from the church. But for fifteen years I lived three blocks away from it in a house where my wife and daughters still live. Progress, my friends, is not ever increasing densities in our historic neighborhoods. What made 'West Highlands' a great place to live and raise our family was that it was an oasis in the city of a small commercial corridor surrounded and largely supported by the community surrounding it. Now it is a destination for the entire city and developers who want to capitalize on that popularity and the uniqueness that brought everyone to the neighborhood in the first place. I support your efforts to preserve one of the icons of the neighborhood and for recognizing that the richness and history of a place resides in its artifacts, not in the shadows of the rush to exploit its popularity.
41	Adam	Bauman	1/2 mile	I believe that a responsible development could be build on the parcel where Beth Eden Church sits today that will incorporate the building to preserve the historical building and neighborhood.

45	Denise	Ross	1/2 mile	I agree that saving the church will serve as a buffer between expected 'modern' development and the single family housing adjacent. I've lived here for 36 years and definitely see it as a local landmark.
46	Mike	Sorum	1 mile
47	chris	sandoval	1/2 mile	Save the church it's part of are history in north Denver have lived here for over 51 years.
48	sandra	doran	1 mile	Shame on you Denver for ignoring the will of the people who opposed Red Peak development because 5 stories modern ruins the quaint character of the Highlands. Redeem yourself and save the church!

49	Beth	Scherer	1 mile	I believe the constant razing of our older homes and structures in NW Denver is very short sighted. We pay lots of money to travel to European countries to see antiquities while destroying our own. I also believe that it is a waste of resources to demolish old buildings that can be renovated and that continuing to do so will be our downfall ie waste not want not. I currently live within a mile of Beth Eden but because the city has not chosen to halt the construction of ultra modern square boxes that they call townhomes I am looking for somewhere else to move that is more old house friendly. I have lived in NW Denver for 30 years and it breaks my heart to see the destruction of our unique neighborhoods.
50	Larry	Wolcott	1/2 mile
51	nick	cioffredi	1/2 mile	It would truly be a shame to forget the past and lose this remarkable architectural historic icon in our neighborhood. Beyond the neighboring houses which depict a piece of american history and style, the church is one of the last major icons near the heart of the Highlands at 32nd and Lowell depicting a very complex time in history. How many people attended Sunday service only to be followed with a ride on the 32nd Ave trolley in their Sunday best. It was a location for the community to gather, support one another, and a backbone to the neighborhood. Its easy to see that it no longer serves the same function but it remains the iconic backbone and how can one stand without well founded structure ... a backbone.

60	E Sam	Fishman	1 mile	I am age 76 & a lifelong north-Denverite. I cannot imagine the skyline at W. 32nd/Lowell without this structure. To me it has always added dignity and a warm, friendly feeling to the area: it "BELONGS"!
61	Thomas	Brunn	1/2 mile	It is a shame that so much of the structure is now in the landfill, but the main sanctuary is still intact and needs to be saved. You don't know what you have lost till it is gone. Please don't pave paradise.

72	Carrie	Bleker	10 miles	I have worked in the Highlands for over 14 years. I love beautiful old churches. It would be a shame to remove that piece of history from the neighborhood. That is one of the many things that draw people to this neighborhood in the first place; history and character.
73	Eva	Goeken	5 miles	Several of my cousins attended for many years. I was there when Ruby shot the man who killed Preedent Kennedy.
74	Gary	Kleiner	5 miles	Once you demolish old beautiful historic structures they are gone for good. This building is part of the Highlands history and removing it would be very unfortunate and hurt the neighborhood history.

82	Maurene	Carlson	1/2 mile
83	Timothy	Fischer	1 mile	I have lived in NW Denver for 49 years! I have attended North High School and have been a resident of this amazing community for all of those 49 years. I have seen the changes that have been brought the area at 32nd and Lowell. From the time that Speer Furniture was in the Chipoltes location to when Common Grounds and Hides first moved into their now old locations. I firmly believe that we must maintain our history while our future grows. After all most of the businesses that are located in the area are in the older buildings that make this unique area what it is! The Beth Eden Church should be granted a historic designation not only for it architecture but for its 83 years as a fixture within this historic district.
84	Jenn	Valdez	1/2 mile
85	Carol	Core	10 miles	Keeping the history of Denver and the Highlands alive is what makes the area so desirable. I know the area well and worry that developers, in the interest of profit, will ravage the historic buildings and suck the life force from the neighborhood. Save the Church!

96	Barb	Granica	5 miles

97	Susan	Luerssen	1/2 mile	Thank you for doing this! I hope we can save the church with development into lofts like the Bell Tower Lofts on South Lincoln Street. Fusing contemporary lofts into an historic church is a winning combination and will help the Highlands preserve the old with the new. Let's not forget the debacle of the 'urban renewal' of the early 1970s that saw many beautiful historic structures demolished. We are smarter than that now.
98	Lisa	Curtis	1 mile	As an architect that lives just a few blocks from this church, it is of my opinion, that it is imperative that this church be saved. Not only to try and maintain some piece of the past when horrendous new buildings are built, but also to preserve the reason people have moved to this neighborhood in the first place. We didn't move to this neighborhood to have new, horrible box buildings like the suburbs, we moved here for the history and timelessness of old structures. Take that away and Highlands will no longer be what is was and people will not want to stay.
99	Christina	Morris	1/2 mile	I've lived in this same house in the West Highlands for 37 years. The Beth Eden Church has always been an important element of the charm of the neighborhood. Please don't further sterilize our neighborhood by destroying a major presence in the heart of the Highlands Square.

113	David	York	5 miles	I have passed by the Beth Eden Church weekly for over 20 years each time enjoying it's beauty an contribution to our wonderful northwest Denver neighborhood. To think Denver does not want to protect such a beautiful architectural gem is a shock to say the least. How sad our society has become to not value the past any more than this.
114	Linda	Paulsen	1/2 mile	This is an important neighborhood landmark that contributes to the uniqueness of West Highlands.
115	Cynthia	Knipple	1/2 mile	Let's quit ruining our beautiful old neighborhood!
116	Elizabeth	Wheeler	10 miles	For almost 15 years I lived at 3100 w 37th ave For whatever reason, this side of town has far less historically designated structures than central and east denver even though - in my opinion- it has just as many. Glad historic denver is finally supporting this church
117	Pat	Defa	1/2 mile	Please keep this historic church building as a buffer for the neighborhood and incorporated the building into the new development.
118	Alanna	Hunter-Crump	1/2 mile

184	Anthony	Cooper	1/2 mile	the proposed huge unwanted development in the Highlands Square area, 32nd and Lowell, Mead and Moncrieff have been resolved, it is now time for the neighborhood to move quickly to resolve the parking situation in the Highland Square area. Parking in this area has been a problem for over 15 years and to date the City's solution has been to issue residential parking permits and patrol the area for scofflaws issuing parking tickets to violators. This resolution has 2 negative effects: 1. Parking violators who are issued tickets are not happy and are much less likely to return to Highlands Square to do business and support the local businesses. 2. The neighbors who live in close proximity to Highland Square still have problems finding parking either in front of their home or close by. This is a problem for example if they are returning from the supermarket with multiple bags or the weather is inclement. Yes, I know you are not guaranteed parking in front of your home, but I do believe with ample parking provided and City enforcement, a person would have a reasonable expectation of close to home parking. Since Red Peak has withdrawn from their development agreement with Mr. Wooten and several of the old church buildings have been demolished leaving an unsightly

It would be wrong to not have it there. Beautiful structure, it should be preserved! We used to attend church there when it was Redeemer Temple. It could be used for a restaurant or a shop of some kind, if a church is not what it destined to be any longer.

204	Eric	Wortman	5 miles	Denver's recent development is out of control across the city. While it's great to revitalize the city and help the economy, it's important that the city preserve the historic culture that makes this city a great place to live. We need to make sure new buildings "fit in" with the surrounding area and carefully approve new projects. This church is an icon of historic Highland Square and it would be a shame to tear it down and replace such historic architecture with a boxy, contemporary, high density condo building like those taking the rest of the city by storm. Please preserve this church and our historic buildings.

206	Sue	Daniels	1 mile	I used to live in Highlands and attended Highlands Church which utilized this building. This structure could be preserved in some capacity and adds to the character of the neighborhood. This contributes to the community, its economic vitality, and its character.

209	Mike	Ulibarri	1/2 mile	I grew up in this area and my parents still live on 33rd and Osceola St. The only original neighbors on this block. Please stop destroying this neighborhood and preserve it starting with Beth Eden Church. We need something left so we can teach the new generations, where they came from!
210	Susan	Mercado	1 mile	Denver, Colorado was incorporated on November 7, 1861 which makes it a relative newcomer amongst major cities of the world. Seeing as Denver is of fairly recent creation we don't have as much in the way of historical structures as many other cities so we can't afford to squander what we have. Beth Eden Church has stood at it's current site since 1931 which tells me that in not too many years it will have stood there longer than any of us living around the church have been alive. That defines historical for me. Beth Eden Church needs to be preserved.

237	Jenny	Buddenborg	1/2 mile	I used to live around the block from the Beth Eden Church, at the time when it was still the vibrant, community-based Highlands Church. I now live less than a half mile away. This site dates back to the beginnings of the West Highland neighborhood and as a result is a clear representation of the community's character. It is a shame that this plot and the others slated for development have been given clearance for density that is out of the character of the neighborhood, but that ship has sailed. However, incorporating the Beth Eden Church into the new development is not. Ensuring its preservation will allow the existing and new to come together, to respect the history and character of the neighborhood while also exercising sustainable development. As a city that is striving to become one of the "greenest," preserving and reusing the Beth Eden Church as a complementary component of the new development is a terrific step in that direction. Thank you for considering my comments.

247	Adriane	Perez	1/2 mile	We also own a property on 34th Ave. between Julian and Lowell - just a few hundred feet from the church. We do not oppose growth within the city; however, we feel that the preservation of the old is essential and is what initially brought so many people to love Denver. There have been many other cities across the country that have also discovered the same growth opportunities and without vision they have torn down many of these historical sites only to realize later their mistake. Please help preserve this site and not loose the historical beauty that the city still possesses.

250	tom	simmons	5 miles	The church is important historically, architecturally, and geographically as a familiar and orienting visual landmark of Highlands, that has played an important role in the social and religious history of the neighborhood for over a century. Retention of the church will make possible a better and more human-scale redevelopment of the site.
251	Rachel	Simmons	5 miles	The church is adjacent to a primary historic commercial and social district for North Denver and in an area I visit several times each week. The historic architecture, the history, and geographic distinction of the church contribute to the area's sense of place, which is important to people throughout the community and beyond.

261	Joanne	Terry	1/2 mile	Please help neighborhoods retain their unique and historic characteristics. The developers are in control after blue print denver went through.
262	Carla	McConnell	10 miles	Designation of Beth Eden Church will ensure adaptive reuse of the structure within the larger development. Adaptive reuse will result in a more interesting development, a better architectural transition to the existing neighborhood and a more diverse urban environment for all of us.

266	Sheila	Pelczarski	1/2 mile	I have owned my home in the West Highland neighborhood for over 16 years. I chose to live here because of the unique character that the older homes and buildings add to the area. I attended Highlands Church in this magnificent building and strongly believe that it should be preserved.
267	Cecilia	long	10 miles	I believe that the church deserves to stay in order to help preserve the character of this neighborhood.

270	Dan	Griebenaw	1/2 mile	Losing the church building would be a definite loss to the aesthetic of Highlands.
271	Dorolyn	Griebenaw	1/2 mile	The church is a beautiful, historic structure. It demonstrates the importance of religion in the development of the north side neighborhood. It needs to be preserved.

273	Jacob	Phillips	1/2 mile	We don't have the room for condos, also we need to preserve these beautiful pieces of history!
274	Edward	Augden	1 mile
275	Stephanie	Oram	1/2 mile	The owner knew it was historic when he bought it. He should not be allowed to devastate the neighborhood just because it's now inconvenient.
276	Roger	Oram	1/2 mile	I am signing this petition because it is only in the developer's interest that the building be razed. Red Peak is no friend to our neighborhood: the detrimental effects of the 4 to 5 story buildings Red Peak has promulgated will over-populate the area and exacerbate the the already compounded congestion during the last few years. The building has historic value to Lowell Blvd and is a bit of a barrier to the wanton destruction of the historic landscape of our neighborhood. If the church building were destroyed, how much further north would the builder or another builder extend the misplaced condo project? The owner of this property should be liable for the appropriate restoration of it, as Red Peak has destroyed as much of the "non-historic" attractive addition as it has been legally allowed.

284	Sherry	Crawford	5 miles	This is a historic landmark that all of us in NW Denver recognize and love when walking and driving the neighborhood. It is important to preserve this history because the this building helps to tell the story of the creation and development of the Highlands area. It is also a beautiful building that stands out among the ugly new structures that do not fit into the neighborhood.
285	Steve	Knopper	1/2 mile
286	Laura	Herlands	1 mile	It is disheartening to see beautiful and historically significant buildings around Denver demolished. It tears the fabric of our unique city apart and erases the foundation of what many of us moved here for. Please preserve this wonderful church. Thank you, Laura

288	Tobi	Brenner	1 mile
289	Laura	Thomas	1 mile	The scrapping I. NW Denver had to stop before this looks like another cherry creek. The new houses should at least have to look like the rest of the neighborhood.
290	Joan	Bolduc	1 mile	Please, Historic Denver, do whatever you can to save what's left of this neighborhood landmark. Developers were allowed to build that monstrosity a few doors up on Lowell because of the height of Beth Eden church. Now they got their height precedence, they want to trash Beth Eden. Please help preserve our neighborhood's character.

295	Susan	Parrish	1 mile	I have always felt it is very positive to care for and make an extra effort to keep our historical buildings. There is nothing like them and once they are gone they are gone. I experienced that in my home town in Whitewater, Wisconsin. They tore down an old mill that had been a part of our history for many many years. That portion of history is gone never to be enjoyed.

299	Shauna	brennan	1/2 mile	I have lived in the area for 14 years and am tired of the old buildings and houses getting torn down. Even my 7 year old doesn't understand why they tear down the beautiful old homes to build new, boring ones.
300	Robert	Greene	1 mile
301	Lori	Brown	1/2 mile	The structure should be preserved. It could be a community center, or provide some type of service to our neighborhood. I think it should have historical acknowledgment.

319	lois	harvey	1 mile	I'm not much over a 1/2 mile away and appreciate both the architecture and the history of the building. It is representative of this part of the city, its history and cultural makeup. A structure such as this should not be torn down. I have no problem with it being incorporated into another project, tastefully, but i see no reason to allow it to be demolished.
320	William	Chesser	1/2 mile
321	Melinda	Morrison	1 mile	It would be a tragedy to tear down a structure that the Italian immigrants built to support the community. Surely Denver can find a way to preserve some of its history! Melinda Morrison
322	eric	wais	1 mile	I'm for whatever Shepard is against, just plain sick of her -- not to mention this church just shouldn't be demolished.
323	Larry	Ambrose	1 mile
324	Travis	Staebell	1/2 mile	I live very close to this historic landmark and would hate to see it torn down to make way for ugly apartment buildings that the Highlands has too many of already. I think it would be a great building to restore into something like The Source on Brighton Blvd - http://www.thesourcedenver.com/ .
325	Richard	Campos	1/2 mile
326	Megan	Routzong	1/2 mile	character is key in the highlands, and the neighborhood will lose its charm if building like these aren't preserved. I think re-purposing this building and creating restaurant/recreational space would be so unique and in line with what the neighborhood is looking for.

329	gary	goins	1 mile	Please preserve this beautiful building!
330	Matt	Casto	1 mile	Please don't allow one developer's desire for profit to rob our community of these types of historical buildings. Let's look at places like Linger, REI, and the Source to see the amazing things that can be done by revitalizing a beautiful old building. This is our opportunity to show that we as a city are committed to sustainable growth and will continue to adopt sustainable practices in all aspects of our lives. Or will we just pay it lip service?
331	Archie	Paulson	1 mile	It would be a crime to tear this down!
332	Shirley	Wendell	10 miles	I went to this beautiful church as a child. I would hate to see it torn down, it is a piece of Denver history.
333	Nancy	Mohrlang	5 miles	Please stop, please. I am sorry that North Denver does not look like where ever it may be that you used to live. Is a church no longer sacred? Really? The $$$ is so very more important to you, so beyond sad.

378	Yvette	Harrell	1/2 mile	Please preserve our historic neighborhood. Once historic buildings/homes are destroyed, they can never be replaced. Too many beautiful, historic buildings and homes have been sacrificed already; for the likes of boxes which destroy continuity. Our neighborhood is desirable because of its friendly, neighborly appearance. That appearance will no longer exist if modern buildings continue to be placed within it, sacrificing its historic appearance. Please at least save the church. (It is hoped that whatever apartment buildings and homes that continue to be constructed will at least be designed by architects who know how to make them attractive, and which fit in with the existing architecture.) I think there would be no objection to buildings that are designed to conform with existing architecture.
379	Rosemary	Stoffel	10 miles
380	Flora	McKay	1/2 mile	Lets preserve history and character in our neighborhood. Education arises from visually seeing, caring for and living among our historical treasurers.
381	Dolores	Molledo	1/2 mile	Please keep this beautiful building. It is sad that we are losing the character of this neighborhood. Please realize that this is why people move here.
382	Leigh	LaFon	10 miles	The quality of life in our city will be shaped with thoughtful preservation of our historic architecture. Great cities do this. We are not Houston, and we don't want to be.

386	Jacqueline	Whittaker	1/2 mile	I live 1/2 block from the church and really hate to see it torn down. I moved to this neighborhood because it is not full of high rises and it is not what lo-hi is. It is sickening to think that could happen here. I was so sad to see the rest of the church torn down. Please do not let it be destroyed.
