Joan L. Mobley

Joan Mobley is president of JTM Consulting, Inc. (incorporated 1994), a leadership-training firm specializing in leadership development for individuals, communities and non-profit organizations. She has special expertise in the design and implementation of a venture called "The InterCity Leadership Visit: a community development program of leadership exchange". This approach brings together a diverse delegation of leadership from a city or region, representing the private, public and nonprofit sectors, to explore "best practices/lessons learned" in another city or region. The delegation of 100+ leaders spends three to four days in another city, engaged in dialogue with their peers on urban, community and economic development issues. Joan was instrumental in the creation and/or implementation of the InterCity Leadership Visit Program in such cities as Jacksonville, FL; Denver, CO; St. Louis, MO; Austin, TX; Birmingham, AL; Mankato, MN; Minneapolis/Saint Paul, MN; Pittsburgh, PA and Nashville, TN. She has participated in over sixty such exchanges.

Her focus on community assessment, program design and resource development allows her to bring unique skills to the development and support of outstanding program offerings. Trained in the Benevon methodology of fundraising and with over thirty years of both volunteer and staff development responsibilities, she brings a holistic look and approach to resource development.

She has served as a Senior Consultant for Trustee Leadership Development®, a national leadership education center in Indianapolis, specializing in organizational and leadership development, certified to train PLANT® (Preparing Leaders And Nurturing Trustees) and The Inner Work of the Leader.

Concurrent with forming JTM Consulting, Mobley was Executive Director of the Eleanor Women's Foundation in Chicago for three years, and before that she was senior vice president and chief operating officer for the Greater Denver Chamber of Commerce in Colorado. Mobley also has held executive positions with the Jacksonville, Florida, Chamber of Commerce, the University of North Florida and the Municipal Museums of Baltimore in Maryland.

Mobley served as a director of AAA Chicago Motor Club and was also on the board of The Auto Club Group, holding company for multi-state AAA organizations. She has served on the board of directors for Artrain USA (Past Chair). Mobley served on the board of Cultural Tourism DC, the Chicago Goodwill Industries Foundation and is past president of the North Michigan Avenue Business and Professional Women's Network. She has been a director of Colorado Community Initiatives, Colorado Chamber of Commerce Executives and has chaired the boards of the Cherry Creek Arts Festival and the Baltimore City Fair. She is a past member of the Alliance for Regional Stewardship, American Chamber of Commerce Executives and the Women's Vision Foundation of Colorado.

Mobley holds a bachelor's degree in mathematics from Notre Dame of Maryland University. Her studies continued at American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums Management School, North Carolina State University, Wheeling, West Virginia and Chamber Institute of Organizational Management, University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia. In addition, Mobley has expanded her management learning through being selected to participate in the Women's Management Development Project at Goucher College, Towson, MD, Influence of Denver, Denver, CO and Leadership America.

Notes & Attachments

Diane D'Angelo is dual-career professional with broad-based expertise in behavioral health, pastoral care, and communications. Currently employed as an interfaith chaplain at The Denver Hospice, she has a long history of civic involvement and advocacy, beginning as a teen in Detroit with the anti-poverty/anti-racism organization Focus: HOPE; serving as a national delegate for LGBT advocacy with DignityUSA during the AIDS crisis; and finally, as a commissioner and chair of the City of Phoenix Human Relations Commission from 2007 – 2012. Diane moved to Colorado in 2013 to pursue a Master of Divinity degree and graduated from The Iliff School of Theology in 2017. She also holds a Master of Counseling degree.

Diane is passionate about connecting Denver seniors with services, as well as providing a counter-narrative to rampant age bias in our culture. With research indicating that 100-year lifespans will soon become the norm, she believes it is imperative to reframe expectations for people over 40. She sees the Denver Commission on Aging as having an integral role in supporting Mayor Hancock's efforts in this regard.
