To Whom It May Concern:

It is my will and intention to serve as a member of the board of the Colfax Business Improvement District (CBID). In my time and experience working in the small business community, my passion for small business success has grown further and further to the point of action. I most recently represented my previous employer, Wells Fargo Bank, in the community as the liaison for the South Metro Denver Chamber of Commerce. There I connected with the local business community and found my purpose in advancing the interests of the local economy. Presently, I work as a Small Business Specialist with UMB Bank, servicing the exact small business customers that I would be aiming to effect change for in the CBID. The pulse that I have on the small business community, in connection with the many years I've lived & worked along Colfax, provides me a firm foundation from which to lead the CBID to success.

If I am appointed to this board, my primary focus will be advancing the economic interests of the Colfax business community within the boundaries of the CBID. This means maintaining the character and charm of Colfax while simultaneously working to ensure it remains a safe and enjoyable place to shop, play and work, all with the end goal of building a long-lasting growth economy around Colfax's many small businesses. Venues, retail shops, professional centers, all are an important and vibrant part of what makes Colfax such a great place to be. With my appointment, I'll utilize my financial expertise, my small business knowhow, and my big-picture mentality to help bring everything together for the greater good of Colfax.

All the best,
Christopher Bishop
