Re: Request for a Council-Sponsored Rezoning at 4625 Milwaukee Street, Denver, CO 80216 with Tierra Colectiva Community Land Trust and Habitat for Humanity

Dear Director Brad Buchanan and Community Planning and Development Staff

I am writing to request a council-sponsored rezoning for 4625 Milwaukee Street, Denver, CO 80216, in the Elyria Swansea statistical neighborhood. The request is to rezone the site from E-SU-D to U-TU-B, to allow the development of 2 new affordable homes that match the neighborhood's residential character. The homes will support working families who contribute to the GES community but struggle to find affordable housing. The development will help replace 2 of the 56 homes lost during the I-70 expansion.

Tierra Colectiva Community Land Trust, Habitat for Humanity, and my city council office are collaborating on this project. The plan is to develop the vacant lot into 2 permanently affordable family homes. These will be townhomes or duplexes with three or four bedrooms each. The homes will likely be sold to families earning between 50% and 80% of the area median income (AMI) with a target resale affordability rate of 57% AMI, roughly a third of the market rate in Denver. Homes will be kept permanently affordable through Tierra Colectiva Community Land Trust, which ensures they remain attainable for future generations of neighborhood families.

The 4625 Milwaukee Street rezone will provide stable housing for working families and help mitigate displacement in Elyria-Swansea. This project also demonstrates the power of community collaboration between residents, nonprofits, and city government to build solutions that last. Supporting this rezoning will help protect longtime GES residents by creating affordable, healthy, community-led homes.

Therefore, I respectfully ask that Community Planning and Development prepare this council-sponsored rezoning and move it forward. This has been a community-led application process initiated by Tierra Colectiva Community Land Trust and vetted with Elyria Swansea neighbors. Thank you for your review and partnership in supporting this vital community effort. Please contact our office with any questions.

Sincerely,

DENVER CITY COUNCIL MEMBER, DISTRICT 9

Friday, March 13, 2026

To: The City of Denver's Community Planning and Development Department
Wellington E. Webb Municipal Office Building at 201 W. Colfax, Denver, CO 80202

From: The Office of Denver City Council Member Darrell B. Watson, District 9
2855 Tremont Street, Suite 201, Denver, CO 80205

Re: Memo Supporting the Council-Sponsored Rezoning at 4625 Milwaukee Street, Denver, CO 80216 for Tierra Colectiva Community Land Trust

Executive Summary

The Office of Denver City Council Member Darrell Watson requests a Council-sponsored rezoning of 4625 Milwaukee Street, Denver, CO 80216, in the Elyria-Swansea neighborhood from E-SU-D to U-TU-B. The site, a 4,605-square-foot vacant parcel, was previously a single-family home that was removed during CDOT's I-70 expansion. This rezoning will enable the development of permanently affordable family homes that match the surrounding residential pattern. The project directly addresses the housing needs of long-time neighborhood residents facing severe displacement pressures.

The proposal is led by Tierra Colectiva Community Land Trust (TCCLT), in partnership with Habitat for Humanity Metro Denver and Denver City Council Member Darrell Watson. Since its founding, TCCLT has helped create 14 homeownership units, all occupied by families of color who were GES residents facing displacement.

The rezoning will enable the construction of a duplex with two family-sized homes. Each home will feature three or four bedrooms, a private yard, and a parking space. The homes will serve households earning 50% to 80% of the Area Median Income (AMI), which is approximately $65,000 to $78,000 for a family of four in 2026.

The future homes at 4625 Milwaukee Street will remain permanently affordable under a community land trust model. The development will help replace homes and businesses lost during the I-70 expansion. Rezoning this site also restores community housing capacity lost to previous public projects and demonstrates a collaborative approach to ensuring long-term affordability, environmental health, and neighborhood stability.

Community Outreach with Elyria-Swansea neighbors and the Larger GES Community

Elyria-Swansea neighbors have strongly supported the development of affordable ownership housing on this site. TCCLT and 4625 Milwaukee Street have carried out extensive, ongoing community engagement throughout Elyria-Swansea. Community outreach focused on bilingual, neighbor-led conversations that emphasize inclusion, transparency, and resident control.

The outreach for this specific site began in the spring of 2026 and included direct engagement on Milwaukee Street and the surrounding blocks. Community outreach and engagement included, but is not limited to, the following:

- Bilingual door-knocking and flyering took place in March 2026 on nearby blocks to inform residents and collect feedback.
- The project was presented at the TCCLT development board meeting on February 10, 2026, and at the GES Coalition Member Meeting on Thursday, February 26, 2026.
- Flyers were distributed at local stores, including Tepetate Market and Sanchez Panaderia.
- The project was featured in the March TCCLT newsletter, reaching current members, homeowners, and supporters.
- Updates will be shared through local organizations, including the Denver North Business Association, the Elyria Swansea Neighborhood Association, the Opportunity Corridor Coalition, and the United Community Action Network.
- Residents were invited to join the TCCLT interest list, refer family members, attend homeownership readiness workshops, and provide feedback or sign-on letters of support.

Through governance structures established by the GES Coalition, every development must receive input and approval from TCCLT development committees, composed of residents, homeowners, and technical experts. Community outreach confirmed that residents value the design, affordability, and the proposed ownership model for 4625 Milwaukee Street. Neighbors see the project as a direct replacement for housing lost to I-70 and a vital step in protecting long-time families from displacement.

Consistency with Neighborhood Context and Zone District Intent

The property is located within the Urban Neighborhood Context, which supports walkable, mixed-use residential developments. Rezoning from the current E-SU-D to U-TU-B will allow redevelopment on the property in line with the neighborhood’s prevailing pattern of modest two-story homes and duplexes.

The current zone lot is non-conforming because it does not meet the minimum lot size for E-SU-D after a portion of the lot was taken by CDOT through eminent domain. The U-TU-B zone better aligns with both the surrounding built environment and Denver’s citywide zoning framework, bringing the lot into compliance for affordable housing development.

Below are some examples demonstrating how the U-TU-B is consistent with the Elyria-Swansea neighborhood context and zone district.

- Urban Neighborhood Context: Encourages low- to moderate-density housing and walkable, transit-connected communities.
- U-TU-B District Purpose: Allows two-and-a-half-story duplexes that fit the existing scale of the street.

- Current Condition: A vacant, fenced lot where CDOT previously took homes and small businesses for I-70.
- Proposed Condition: 2 affordable ownership homes developed using prefabricated methods to reduce construction time and neighborhood disruption.
- Environmental Commitment: TCCLT will complete brownfield remediation before construction and deliver all-electric, energy-efficient homes equipped for solar power.

Rezoning to U-TU-B aligns with community priorities for walkability, sustainability, and affordability, while transforming a vacant lot into a source of local pride and stability.

Consistency with Comprehensive Plan 2040

This project directly advances the goals of Denver’s Comprehensive Plan 2040, particularly those related to equitable housing, neighborhood stability, and environmental resilience. It reflects a straightforward application of city policy aimed at addressing displacement, expanding affordable ownership, and increasing access to opportunities. TCCLT’s community land trust model offers a sustainable solution to rising housing costs and the erosion of generational wealth among long-time GES residents. The project also exemplifies how local government can work with neighborhood-based organizations to achieve inclusive growth.

The rezoning supports and is consistent with the following Comprehensive Plan 2040 plan guidance.

- Equitable, Affordable and Inclusive – Goal 2, Strategy A (p. 28): The rezoning will create 2 permanently affordable homes, thereby increasing affordable homeownership opportunities in Elyria-Swansea.
- Equitable, Affordable, and Inclusive – Goal 3, Strategy B (p. 28): The site is within walking distance of transit, parks, schools, and community services, and the rezoning enables the development of missing middle homes.
- Equitable, Affordable, and Inclusive – Goal 5, Strategy B (p. 28): The community land trust model enables families to remain in their community permanently, addressing long-standing displacement in Elyria-Swansea.
- Strong and Authentic Neighborhoods – Goal 1, Strategy B (p. 34): The rezoning ensures neighborhoods offer a mix of housing types and services.
- Environmentally Resilient – Goal 4, Strategy D (p. 53): New homes will include efficient appliances, energy-efficient building strategies, solar-ready roofs, yard space, and access to adjacent green space, including a food forest.

Rezoning 4625 Milwaukee Street supports the city’s long-term vision of an inclusive and sustainable Denver. It delivers practical, measurable benefits for working families while preserving the cultural identity of Elyria-Swansea.

Consistency with Blueprint Denver

Blueprint Denver identifies Elyria-Swansea as an urban neighborhood where small-scale, affordable infill housing can promote stability and diversity. The proposed rezoning fulfills this policy by converting a vacant parcel into 2 permanently affordable ownership homes that respect the area’s residential character. The project represents the kind of context-sensitive growth Blueprint Denver promotes, compact, walkable, and rooted in community participation. The design and zoning match the plan’s guidance for the “Low Residential” place type and “Local Street” classification.

The rezoning supports and is consistent with the following Blueprint Denver plan guidance.

- Neighborhood Context: Urban context designation supports compact single-unit and multi-unit housing. Rezoning to U-TU-B aligns with this by allowing a small-scale 2-unit development that is consistent with the surrounding neighborhood's fabric.
- Equity Concepts (p. 12)
 - Access to Opportunity: Close to schools, library, recreation center, parks, and bus lines.
 - Reduce Displacement: All TCCLT homeowners are waitlisted families who are likely buyers of these homes, and are long-term GES residents facing displacement.
 - Expand Housing Diversity: Add ownership options and low-density development in a rental-heavy area.
- Land Use and Built Form (p. 72): Policy 2C: Allow increased density in exchange for desired outcomes, such as affordable housing.
- Future Place Type – Low Residential (p. 231): The rezoning supports single- and two-unit housing, as well as missing-middle housing up to 2.5 stories, consistent with Blueprint Denver.
- Street Type – Local Street (p. 154): The rezoning supports residential uses with low-intensity traffic, which is appropriate for Josephine Street and aligns with Blueprint Denver’s street type.
- Growth Strategy (p. 49–51): This project strengthens housing supply in a displacement-vulnerable area that allows “All other areas” to absorb modest residential growth.
- Policies & Strategies (pp. 82–83): Integrate missing middle housing into low-density residential areas, focus affordability incentives near transit, and support the preservation/addition of smaller affordable homes.

Rezoning this site aligns with Blueprint Denver’s goals by providing the necessary housing choices without compromising the area’s character. It strengthens the neighborhood’s future while ensuring that affordability and access remain at its core.

Consistency with the Elyria-Swansea Neighborhood Plan

DARRELL B. WATSON
DENVER CITY COUNCIL MEMBER
FINE DISTRICT NINE

The Elyria-Swansea Neighborhood Plan calls for reinvestment that benefits residents, supports family housing, and protects against displacement. This rezoning directly advances these objectives by rebuilding homes lost to the I-70 expansion and providing attainable ownership opportunities for long-time GES families. This site-specific rezoning also responds to the plan’s clear directive for Council-led action to enable duplexes, rowhouses, and other missing-middle housing types that reflect the area’s traditional residential form.

The rezoning of 4625 Milwaukee Street is consistent and compliant with the Elyria Swansea Neighborhood Plan in many ways, including, but not limited to:

- Council-Led Rezoning (B.7): Explicitly supports rezoning to enable duplexes and rowhouses on underused parcels.
- Balanced Land Use (B.3, p. 29): Replaces a vacant lot with 2 affordable homes for working families.
- Improve Access (B.23, p. 46): Adds moderate-density housing in a walkable location without displacement.
- Traditional Residential Areas (p. 88): Rebuilds 2 of the 56 homes lost through eminent domain during the I-70 project.
- Encourage Investment (E.2, p. 88): Supports affordable development consistent with anti-displacement goals and environmental cleanup standards.

Rezoning this property delivers precisely the kind of balanced, community-led reinvestment envisioned by the Elyria-Swansea Neighborhood Plan. It restores local housing options, builds equity for families, and demonstrates the power of neighborhood collaboration.

Promoting the Public Interest

The proposed rezoning and development at 4625 Milwaukee Street serve the public interest through environmental restoration, permanent affordability, neighborhood stabilization, and displacement prevention. The project reflects how city, nonprofit, and community partnerships can deliver meaningful public benefit through coordinated investment and stewardship.

The rezoning serves and promotes the public interest in many ways, including, but not limited to:

- Environmental Remediation: Cleanup coordinated with EPA, CDPHE, and DDPHE before construction.
- Public Health: Redevelops a brownfield site into safe, efficient homes for families.
- Sustainability: Homes will be all-electric, energy-efficient, and solar-ready to reduce carbon emissions.
- Walkability: Provides proximity to schools, parks, libraries, and public transit, lowering transportation costs.

DARRELL B. WATSON
DENVER CITY COUNCIL MEMBER
FINE DISTRICT NINE

- Funding and Partnership: Supported by federal, state, and city housing grants, with Habitat for Humanity offering technical and administrative support.
- Permanent Affordability: The community land trust model ensures long-term affordability, enabling residents to build equity and stability.

Ultimately, this initiative transforms a contaminated, fenced lot into healthy, energy-efficient homes accessible to long-time residents. It demonstrates how Denver’s housing policy can be effectively implemented at the neighborhood scale to achieve meaningful impact.

Conclusion

Rezoning 4625 Milwaukee Street from E-SU-D to U-TU-B fulfills Denver’s housing, equity, and environmental goals while addressing long-standing community needs. The project replaces housing lost through public infrastructure expansion and offers permanently affordable homeownership opportunities for working families. It is grounded in years of neighbor-led planning, governance, and outreach through TCCLT and the GES Coalition. Finally, this rezoning turns a vacant, contaminated parcel into a cornerstone of stability and opportunity. It honors the history and resilience of the Elyria-Swansea community while providing a forward-looking model for equitable development.
