Shamelle Chotoki – Mother, Data Engineer, Data Scientist & Founder of CAB: Children Against Bullying

I am Shamelle Chotoki, a mother, data engineer, and data scientist with the State of Colorado, Department of Revenue. I focus on enhancing data quality, designing data pipelines, streamlining workflows, and ensuring compliance. I co-lead the GDAB Data Types Working Group to advance data standards and governance.

I founded CAB: Children Against Bullying Inc. with my 9-year-old son, Sahil, to combat bullying, domestic violence, and child abuse. Our nonprofit leverages AI-powered tools to create safe, inclusive environments for children to thrive.

As a survivor of domestic violence, I advocate for inclusivity and awareness, especially for individuals with disabilities facing bias, bullying, and abuse. I aim to empower communities through education, empathy, and practical solutions.

I am honored to present to the Denver Commission for People with Disabilities (DCPD) on the intersection of disabilities, bullying, and abuse, providing resources and support to those affected.

Inspired by my son, I strive to create a world where every child feels safe, supported, and heard.
