Board Members

Luella Chavez D'Angelo
Chief Communications Officer
The Western Union Company

Luella Chavez D'Angelo is the Chief Communications Officer for The Western Union Company (NYSE: WU), the premiere financial services provider for under-served consumers and small-and-medium businesses. Reporting directly to the CEO, Chavez D'Angelo is responsible for developing and implementing a strategic, aligned and highly effective global communication and corporate social responsibility strategy for the company's growing array of products and delivery channels. In addition, she oversees the Western Union Social Ventures department, as well as the Western Union Foundation, together with its Board of Directors.

Chavez D'Angelo has been with Western Union since 2000, when she was appointed the inaugural director of what was then the First Data Western Union Foundation. During her tenure as Western Union Foundation President, through 2012, Chavez D'Angelo built a widely-respected, high-impact organization, distributing nearly $90 million in support to more than 2500 non-profit, non-governmental organizations (NGOs) in 130 countries.

In her former role as SVP of Social Ventures, Chavez D'Angelo transformed Western Union's thought leadership and communications strategies. She has been a driving force in positioning Western Union as a purpose-driven brand, advancing its shared value strategies for greater social and business impact. Responsible for aligning Western Union with the global economic opportunity cause, Chavez D'Angelo championed the creation of the five-year, $50 million Our World, Our Family program. Honored with a 2009 Excellence Award from the Committee Encouraging Corporate Philanthropy (CECP), Our World, Our Family successfully concluded having touched more than six million lives. It also set the stage for Western Union's Education for Better cause marketing platform, which was announced at the United Nations in September, 2012.

As Chief Communications Officer, Chavez D'Angelo is frequently quoted by media outlets such as Forbes, The Huffington Post, The Financial Times and Corporate Responsibility Magazine. She has spoken on a variety of business, communications and social issues in high-profile venues, including the United Nations, The Conference Board, The Corporate Sponsorship Sustainability Conference and the Business Civic Leadership Center.

Prior to joining Western Union, Chavez D'Angelo served as Chief Marketing Director for the Denver Museum of Nature and Science and Director of Marketing for the New Mexico Museum of Natural History and Science. She also served as Vice President of Institutional Development for the University of New Mexico Health Sciences Center.

Chavez D'Angelo received the 2010 Lifetime Achievement Award from the Colorado Women's Chamber of Commerce. She holds a bachelor's degree in Marketing Management and a master's in Business Administration, with an emphasis on Finance, from the University of New Mexico.

MATTHEW BURKETT

BIO

Matthew Burkett lives a Life Well Played. He is a Christian, husband, father and professional globetrotting fly angler. He is the founder and CEO of The Flyfisher Group, a capital, consulting and holding company that specializes in growing sustainable assets. He has been described as "a visionary and operational genius for small businesses," and "a man who knows how to get things done." Mr. Burkett has founded more than ten companies in his twenty-year career and personally invested in over twenty small businesses. A passionate philanthropist, he serves his communities through The Burkett Family Foundation and Lincoln Hills Cares, enriching the lives of families, young people and the elderly.

LIFE WELL PLAYED

Matthew is focused on the ambition of living a "Life Well Played." It drives his investment, management and philanthropic philosophies. It can be defined as "the tangible benefit of regular, predictable cash flow through multiple revenue streams; the intangible benefit received from investing in opportunities that align with interests and enhance quality of life and personal balance."
