Office of Neighborhood Safety (ONS): Equity-Centered, Focused, Impactful

Housed within an equity office, ONS centers social justice, data, and community voice to Equity-Centered build trust, direct resources where harm is greatest and expand opportunity instead of deepening disparities. Focused Coordination ONS functions as a focused, coordinated system that moves Denver from fragmented responses to a clear prevention-to-intervention continuum. Each operational component has a clear role but functions as one engine: screening and assessment identify need; diversion and prevention steer youth away from deeper system Integrated Response contact; interruption stops immediate harm; and justice-involved youth who are arrested are connected to supportive services. The result is a unified community safety model that interrupts cycles of violence, strengthens Unified Impact family and community capacity, expands pathways to opportunity, and invests in safer neighborhoods..

Youth Violence Prevention (YVP)

What is Denver's Youth Violence Prevention Initiative?

A comprehensive, metro-wide strategy, rooted in community, equity, collaboration, interdependence, best practices, and collective action to drive systemic change.

Focused on individuals who are 11-24 years of age and at the greatest risk of being impacted by violence.

What is Denver's Youth Violence Prevention Programming?

YVP programming is 100% grant-funded to community-based organizations and providers, with the intention of centering young people most impacted by violence, building trusting and transformational relationships, and offering holistic, wraparound support that fosters long-term healing, belonging, and flourishing.

Centering those youth/students ages II-I4 who are at the greatest risk of being impacted by violence and are not system-involved.

We support youth and families as full human beings, nurturing their mental, emotional, physical, social, and spiritual well-being

Healing-Centered We respond to trauma, mental health, systemic oppression, and generational harm with culturally responsive, whole-person healing that prioritizes connection and transformation

Relentlessly Consistent We earn trust through presence, follow-through, and a long-term commitment to walk alongside youth and community. We never give up, especially on those who have been failed or overlooked by systems of support

Grounded in Love We embody a love that holds those closest to harm with deep empathy, unwavering dignity, and a judgment-free presence, believing that to truly love humanity is to labor for its healing and collective liberation

Rooted In Equity We know that many forms of violence are rooted in systemic oppression, racism, and disinvestment. We seek to address root causes, providing direct services and advocating for systemic change

Community Violence Solutions

The Gang/Group/Gun Intervention Program provides long-term, structured & personalized support for critically at-risk individuals in Denver with 90% of our clientele being Black and Brown community members—facing life-threatening circumstances or potential incarceration. Our approach addresses survival-based behaviors that have become normalized in marginalized communities.

Through coordinated case management, mentoring, violence interruption, and service navigation, we help clients build safer, more stable lives. We collaborate with nonprofits, faith-based groups, and community organizations to deliver holistic, culturally responsive care.

Community-aligned Our Interventionists work directly in the community, meeting clients in their everyday environments; at home, school, work, or in social settings. We are not a supervisory program and do not require clients to report to us but instead, we go to them. This approach reduces stigma, builds trust, and allows us to better understand how daily interactions shape behavior and outcomes, leading to more informed and effective support

Colorado Youth Detention Continuum (CYDC)

Detention screening and pretrial release services for youth ages 10–17 arrested in Denver and charged with a misdemeanor or felony.

CYDC is overseen by the Colorado Department of Human Services, Division of Youth Services, implemented locally by Juvenile Services Planning Committees and district coordinators, and advised by a Statewide Advisory Board of juvenile justice professionals.

City Administration

The City serves as the administrative backbone that operationalizes CYDC locally by aligning fiscal, HR, contracting, data, and compliance functions to deliver equitable, effective detention screening and pretrial services.

Operational Focus

CYDC manages youth referrals to secure detention, assess risk, and provide support. CYDC only holds youth with severe offenses to minimize unnecessary justice-system involvement. When detention is necessary, CYDC ensures supports address root causes and promote positive youth development.

Effective Intervention

In 2024/25, CYDC served over 300 youth and maintained a 6% or less recidivism rate, along with failure to appear rate.
