Valverde and Athmar Park

Valverde and Athmar Park Legislative Rezoning Narrative

1. Consistency with Adopted Plans

The following adopted plans apply to this application:

- Denver Comprehensive Plan 2040 (2019)
- Blueprint Denver (2019)
- Valverde Neighborhood Plan (1991)
- Athmar Park Neighborhood Perimeter Plan (2000)
- West Area Plan (Draft, anticipated 2023)

Overview

Several of the adopted plans, detailed below, recommend allowing accessory dwelling units (ADUs) as one tool in a broader strategy to diversify the types of housing that are available and can provide infill and affordable housing options. This rezoning, which is intended to expand ADUs throughout the Valverde and Athmar Park neighborhoods, removes the barrier for homeowners to have to individually pursue ADU zoning, an action which directly aligns with Blueprint Denver recommendations and strategies.

This step aligns with current efforts in west Denver to reduce barriers to ADU development so they might become a more accessible wealth building tool and affordable housing option. Additionally, this rezoning is responsive to the concerns of members of the Valverde and Athmar Park communities, who have consistently expressed for many years and through multiple planning processes the need to address: involuntary displacement, increasing cost-burden for homeowners, preservation of neighborhood character, and how additional entitlements might help neighborhoods keep residents and maintain the cultural and historical diversity that has defined them for decades.

The West Denver Renaissance Collaborative ADU Pilot Program

In response to community concerns about homeowner instability and the lack of affordable rental units, the West Denver Renaissance Collaborative (WDRRC) created the ADU Handbook, and secured funding for the West Denver Single Family Plus (WDSF+) Accessory Dwelling Unit (ADU) Pilot Program. WDRRC began addressing ADU barriers and building partnerships in 2019 and launched the pilot program to enable moderate- and low-income homeowners to design, finance, and build an ADU on their residential property. The program assists homeowners with project feasibility, site assessment, predevelopment, housing counseling, financing, ADU and site design, and construction to develop detached ADUs below market cost. ADUs built through the Pilot Program are designated affordable housing for 25 years, to be occupied or rented at a rate no higher than the 80 percent area median income maximum rent. As part of the program, the city is working to streamline permitting for prototype ADU designs offered by WDRRC and partnering with Habitat for Humanity to construct ADUs. HOST provides silent forgivable loans to the program of up to $30,000 to help eligible homeowners cover costs of building the ADU, including permits and on and off-site improvements.

2021 is the first full year of construction, resulting in real world lessons on the barriers to ADU development, solutions to ensure that ADUs stabilize low- and moderate-income homeowners and help them build intergenerational wealth, and what is needed for new affordable ADUs to be built. Several ADUs are in construction, permitting, and final design. Families being served by the ADU Pilot Program are all located in west Denver, with half of the homeowners below 80% AMI and half 80%-125% AMI. Early lessons show strong interest in the program to stabilize and create intergenerational wealth; demand is for ground floor units that share a yard with the primary home. WDRC is also working with partners on early issues relevant to scaling the ADU Pilot Program to other vulnerable neighborhoods by evaluating lessons learned from the pilot thus far and sharing information with interested partners, leaders and elected officials.

ADU construction has not taken off in Denver due to a variety of factors: the need for stamped architectural designs for ADUs, site and soil variability that affects foundation requirements, complex development review standards, and development, zoning, and right-of-way requirements that create disproportionately expensive impacts on such small development projects. These factors combine to make building ADUs expensive with a long review time frame, and with potential permit and financial implications for other existing property improvements. Many of the requirements and permit fees significantly increase the cost of ADUs making them expensive and inaccessible to most homeowners without the cost savings, efficiencies and cost-bridging benefits of the ADU Pilot Program.

In response to these challenges, Community Planning and Development (CPD) developed resources to support homeowners who are interested in designing, permitting, and constructing an ADU.

- Development Services currently has a permitting guide for single family and duplex projects, available online.
- Development Services is planning to create a streamlined process guide specifically for ADUs. The initiative to create this resource was initially slated for 2021 and is in progress.

In 2022, CPD has recently launched a project to reduce barriers to ADU development in the Denver Zoning Code. Proposed updates include:

- Making it easier to create ADUs as an additional housing option in zone districts where they are currently allowed
- Making sure new ADUs fit in well in different types of neighborhoods and block patterns, such as neighborhoods without alleys or neighborhoods with lower-scale primary structures

Consistency with Adopted Plans

Denver Comprehensive Plan 2040

Comprehensive Plan 2040 lays out the City's overarching planning vision for the next 20 years. This rezoning is in alignment with the following recommendations:

Equitable, Affordable and Inclusive

Goal 2, Strategy A – “Create a greater mix of housing options in every neighborhood for all individuals and families” (p. 28).

Goal 2, Strategy D – “Increase the development of senior-friendly and family-friendly housing, including units with multiple bedrooms in multifamily developments” (p. 28).

E-SU-B1, E-SU-D1 and E-SU-D1x will allow the Valverde and Athmar Park neighborhoods to add a new housing type: accessory dwelling units (ADUs). ADUs can house individuals or families from a variety of incomes, ages, and needs; many homes are small and the ADU adds bedrooms while keeping the primary home intact and adding units to neighborhoods that are primarily single-unit homes. ADUs also create opportunities for multi-generational living, which can create added support for seniors and families who need childcare.

Strong and Authentic Neighborhoods

Goal 1, Strategy B – “Ensure neighborhoods offer a mix of housing types and services for a diverse population” (p. 34).

This rezoning would provide an additional option for homeowners to diversify the primarily single-family housing stock in Valverde and Athmar Park. ADUs add additional housing to the neighborhood, creating an option that is less expensive than homeownership in a neighborhood where long-term residents are less and less able to afford homes in the area.

Environmentally Resilient

Goal 8, Strategy A – “Promote infill development where infrastructure and services are already in place” (p. 54).

The map amendment will allow additional housing units on lots with existing houses where infrastructure and services such as water, stormwater, and transit already exist. Therefore, the map amendment is consistent with the aforementioned Environmentally Resilient strategy.

Blueprint Denver

Blueprint Denver was adopted in 2019 as a supplement to Comprehensive Plan 2040 and establishes an integrated framework for the city’s land use and transportation decisions. There are four key components of Blueprint Denver that apply to this rezoning application:

Land Use and Built Form: Housing

Recommendation 4 – “Diversify housing choice through the expansion of accessory dwelling units throughout all residential areas” (p. 84) and strategies for integrating ADUs including using “an inclusive community input process to respond to unique considerations in different parts of the city” and “identify[ing] strategies to reduce involuntary displacement” (p. 84).

- This rezoning will allow ADUs to be built on any lot previously zoned for single unit housing within the applicable boundaries.

Recommendation 5 – “Remove barriers to constructing accessory dwelling units and create context-sensitive form standards” (p. 84).

- Strategy A recommends “consider[ing] programs and resources to help reduce barriers to ADUs for homeowners, especially in neighborhoods that score high in Reducing Vulnerability to Displacement” (p. 84).
  - This legislative rezoning removes the burden on homeowners to rezone their individual property (saving them time and money) and expands ADU zoning to all single unit parcels in Valverde and Athmar Park. This rezoning outreach in District 7 has brought awareness of ADU zoning, the ADU development process, ADU financing and the steps necessary for ADU development readiness.
  - The WDRC ADU Pilot Program is focused on west Denver neighborhoods including Valverde and Athmar Park. The ADU Pilot Program reduces barriers related to: complex ADU standards, ADU financing, and by partnering to simplify predevelopment and construction for homeowners. More homeowners can choose to build an ADU and participate in this barrier reducing program if they have ADU zoning.

Land Use and Built Form: General

Recommendation 5 – “Integrate mitigation of involuntary displacement of residents and/or businesses into major city projects” (p. 74).

- ADUs can provide long-time Valverde and Athmar Park residents with a housing option that help families remain in the neighborhood. ADUs provide homeowners the opportunity to add living space for family and the flexibility to age in place. ADUs provide a wealth-building tool for formerly redlined communities and can serve as a potential source of income to cover housing expenses and increasing property taxes. Rezoning to allow ADUs throughout the entirety of the three neighborhoods expands options and creates opportunity for wealth building for all residents.
- The efforts detailed in the Overview of this section outline next steps for programs and partnerships to support existing residents and help prevent involuntary displacement.

Recommendation 11 – “Implement plan recommendations through city-led rezonings and text amendments” (p. 79).

- This legislative rezoning implements Blueprint Denver plan recommendation 11 Strategy A for “large-scale, legislative rezonings over site-by-site rezonings”; is guided by “equity concepts and maps in Chapter 3” per Strategy B; and Strategy C which directs “a robust and inclusive community input process.” (p. 79)

Neighborhood Context

Urban Edge – “The urban edge context areas are predominantly residential and tend to act as a transition between urban and suburban areas” (p. 205). The urban edge context hosts “single-unit and two-unit uses, with some low-scale multi-unit embedded throughout” (p. 206).

- ADUs are consistent with the neighborhood context identified in Blueprint Denver for Valverde and Athmar Park. All three neighborhoods are in the urban edge context, and E-SU-B1, E-SU-D1 and E-SU-D1x are zone districts within the urban edge context.

Future Place

Low Residential – “Predominantly single- and two-unit uses on small or medium lots. Accessory dwelling units and duplexes are appropriate and can be thoughtfully integrated where compatible” (p. 214); “Mix of low- to mid-scale multi-unit residential options. Small-scale multi-unit buildings are interspersed between single- and two-unit residential...Buildings are generally 3 stories or less in height. When occurring, single- and two-unit residential uses are typically in the urban house form” (p. 216). “Predominately single- and two-unit uses on small or medium lots. Accessory dwelling units and duplexes are appropriate and can be thoughtfully integrated where compatible. Some civic and institutional uses are compatibly integrated throughout and limited mixed-use can occur along arterial and collector streets, as well as where commercial uses have been already established. Vacant institutional uses on corners or select sites may be appropriate locations to introduce additional residential intensity. Low to medium buildings coverage. Building are generally up to 2.5 stories in height. (p. 214)

Street Type

Local – “Local streets are designed for the highest degree of property access and the lowest amount of through movement...and are mostly characterized by residential uses.” (p. 154).

Residential – “Primarily residential uses, but may also include schools, civic uses, parks, small retail nodes and other similar uses. Buildings on residential streets usually have a modest setback” (p. 160).

- Street types indicate the “appropriateness of the intensity of the adjacent development” (p.67). Valverde and Athmar Park have majority local streets. W. Mississippi Ave. is both a residential arterial and mixed-use arterial.

Growth Area Strategy

All Other Areas of the City – “10% jobs and 20% housing by 2040” (p. 51).

- Growth Area Strategy identifies the aspiration for future growth distribution in Denver (p. 51). Valverde and Athmar Park are part of the “All other areas of the city” growth area. These areas anticipate experiencing around 20% of new housing growth and 10% of new employment growth by 2040 (p. 51). This growth area is “mostly residential areas with embedded local centers and corridors, [and] take a smaller amount of growth intended to strengthen the existing character of our neighborhoods” (p. 49).

The proposed rezoning to E-SU-B1, E-SU-D1 and E-SU-D1x will support low intensity growth with zoning that already exists in large parts of the three neighborhoods and aligns with Blueprint Denver’s growth strategy.

Equity Analysis

Blueprint Denver calls for three equity concepts to guide future planning and implementation. These are used to understand disparities and patterns between neighborhoods. This rezoning request, in particular, seeks to minimize disparities and improve metrics based on the following indicators:

Access to Opportunity

This equity concept is measured using a six-indicator index of data points for neighborhood equity and scores access to amenities, services and quality transit.

Generally, Valverde and Athmar Park have less access to opportunity than most neighborhoods indicating the need to remove barriers and improve outcomes for all residents. Generally, this area has greater access to centers and corridors and public parks. Access to opportunity in portions of Valverde score least equitable in social determinants to health to include percentage of 25-year-olds and older without a high school degree, and percentage of families below the poverty line. Other low scoring includes access to healthcare, child obesity, and life expectancy. Access to opportunity in Athmar Park has a slightly higher score but is less equitable in the build environment and like Valverde, for social determinants to health as well.

This large area rezoning preserves neighborhood character while also allowing more residents in an area that has relatively good access services, recreation, and business. Moreover, residents who are able to stay retain their social and support networks, often extending those networks to aging and extended family who may occupy an ADU.

This proposed ADU rezoning will not allow for commercial uses so it will not directly improve access to other opportunity indicators, it creates more affordable and diverse housing opportunity to neighborhoods that are starting to see new investments both within the neighborhood and in adjacent neighborhoods. The Decatur Fresh Food market will bring healthy options to nearby Sun Valley on easily accessible 10th Ave, and both neighborhoods have access to green space and playgrounds, creating quality of life opportunities that will be more accessible to a wider range of families with more access to diverse housing options.

Vulnerability to Involuntary Displacement

This rezoning seeks to stabilize residents and businesses who are vulnerable to displacement due to increasing property values and rents. The basis for measuring vulnerability to involuntary displacement was developed by the Department of Housing Stability (HOST) and combines the following data points from the U.S. Census: median household income, percent of renter-occupied units and percent of residents with less than a college degree. The Valverde and Athmar Park neighborhoods are vulnerable to involuntary displacement based on most indicators.

Both neighborhoods are identified as vulnerable in terms of median household income, requiring attention and commitment to affordable housing and support for residents as housing values, costs, and property taxes continue to vastly outpace growth in wages. Working class homeowners with median household incomes are experiencing instability because of rising housing costs and property taxes, thus the programs outlined in the Overview are vital to helping this rezoning fulfill the potential to expand housing options and accessibility.

This rezoning will not increase inequities but instead allow more property owners to establish an accessory dwelling unit on their property which can be an opportunity to build wealth, stabilize families, help keep long-time residents in place, and provide more housing options for vulnerable communities already experiencing significant displacement.

Expanding Housing Diversity

This concept seeks to provide a better and more inclusive range of housing options in all neighborhoods. A diverse range of housing options, including different prices, sizes, types and a mix of rental and for-sale is key to encouraging complete neighborhoods and households of all types and incomes. The housing diversity score combines census tract-level data measuring the percentage of middle-density housing (housing with 2-19 units), home size diversity, ownership versus rental, housing costs, and the number of income-restricted units. The census tracts in Valverde and Athmar Park show a diversity in bedroom counts per unit and income restricted units, but lack diversity in missing middle housing, owner to renter ratio, and housing costs.

This zoning proposal will increase housing diversity by expanding access to a smaller and lower cost housing option than the existing single-unit homes in the neighborhood. This is very important in Valverde and Athmar Park where there are very few multi-family developments. The ADU Pilot Program doubles the units on a single-family lot. Additionally, ADU zoning may help to add units at more affordable price points than would result with scrapes and new construction. While there are diverse bedroom counts in both neighborhoods, there is a higher-than-average number of people per household in Valverde and Athmar Park and family units or the addition of bedrooms through attached and detached ADUs are important to help households stay in place.

The identified lack of missing middle housing can also be eased by the opportunity for increased housing diversity; the ADU Pilot Program stabilizes and supports intergenerational wealth building for homeowners and the creation of new restricted rental units for renters that can have one to three bedrooms. This expansion in housing options can help to increase diversity of housing in terms of size, rentals, costs, missing middle options, and for those who participate in the ADU Pilot Program and increase in affordable housing opportunity.

Jobs Diversity

Jobs diversity measures two key factors related to the availability and variety of employment options: the number of jobs per acre in different parts of the city (jobs density) and the mix of jobs in different parts of the city (jobs diversity). Overall, both neighborhoods do not have a high density of jobs, typical of single-unit residential areas, and the jobs that are located within the neighborhood have an emphasis on retail compared to other areas of the city.

The proposed districts do not allow for commercial uses so this rezoning will not impact jobs diversity. However, the proposed districts could enable residents with different incomes and education levels to live in a neighborhood with easy access to commercial corridors and centers and downtown, which provide a variety of job options.

Objectives/Goals

The Valverde Neighborhood Plan, adopted in 1991, applies to the subject properties, which are mainly within the plan's Residential Subarea I, described as "the largest residential subarea in Valverde which covers the entire western portion of the neighborhood. This subarea contains the most stable and least threatened residential area in Valverde. There are a wide variety of housing types, ages, and conditions here. With the exception of a few scattered duplexes in the extreme northwest section and along the western portion of the neighborhood, this area is characterized primarily by single family residences. Although there are numerous amenities in Subarea I, it does have several land use concerns that bear close monitoring. First, the commercial properties along Federal Boulevard and Alameda Avenue have some negative impacts on abutting residential properties. These commercial properties should be contained within their present boundaries, face the arterial strip, and be landscaped or buffered to protect the adjacent residential areas (p.11). The following plan recommendation is applicable to this rezoning request.

- LUZ-2 Develop the remaining vacant land in a manner that is compatible with the land use character and density of surrounding land uses and achieves city and neighborhood goals.
- H-4 Build new, affordable housing at West Third Avenue and Decatur Street, and other appropriate sites.

The proposed rezoning is consistent with these recommendations as they emphasize remaining vacant land to be evaluated in a way that is compatible with the neighborhood land use character, and calls for building new affordable housing throughout appropriate site – in this case allowing residents to stay in place by adding an ADU to low residential properties, thus increasing the stability of surrounding residential properties.

The subject property is also within the West Area Plan that is currently in progress and will replace the Valverde Neighborhood Plan upon its adoption. Because the West Area Plan is not adopted, it cannot be considered for review of this application.

Objectives/Goals

The Athmar Park Neighborhood Perimeter Plan was adopted by Denver City Council in 2000 and is applicable to a portion of the subject properties south of Alameda Ave. The proposed rezoning to a single-unit district to allow for accessory dwelling units is consistent with the action agenda item #5, Implementation Strategy: “Maintain existing residential R-1 and R-2 zoning in the neighborhood...” (p. 59). The plan also recommends “continu[ing] to monitor zoning change, variance, street and alley vacation, and conditional use requests to ensure the continuity and character of the neighborhood in all zone districts” (p. 59). Rezoning to allow for ADUs to be built will maintain the existing residential character of the Athmar Park neighborhood.

West Area Plan, (Anticipated Adoption in 2023)

The draft of the West Area Plan, community input identified the desire to expand housing options within Low Residential places. In West, single-unit homes are the predominate use in low residential areas and other types of housing options are limited.

“Implement adopted citywide policies from Blueprint Denver to diversify housing choice throughout all residential areas by expending detached and attached accessory dwelling units (ADUs) while also addressing context-sensitive detached ADU design and the removal of barriers to ADU construction” (p. 182)

The legislative proposal would allow for ADU’s to be constructed in areas identified as residential low in the West area plan.

2. Uniformity of District Regulations and Restrictions

The proposed rezoning to E-SU-B1, E-SU-D1 and E-SU-D1x will result in the uniform application of zone district building form, use and design regulations within each zone district.

3. Public Health, Safety and General Welfare

The proposed rezoning will improve public health, safety, and general welfare by implementing adopted plans.

Allowing ADUs throughout the entirety of the neighborhoods expands access to gentle density options and a lower impact, lower cost addition of needed housing. It helps expand housing diversity and opportunities to help residents at a range of income levels continue to live in the neighborhood while providing more flexibility to age in place and remain in community. Responses received through the outreach project about why residents wanted to build an ADU overwhelmingly consisted of homeowners who wanted to build housing for their families, especially for aging parents. The proposed rezoning would also allow infill development through a minimal, context-sensitive increase in density. This infill, taking place where utilities, services, and a mix of uses are already in place, is more environmentally sustainable than the alternative of greenfield development. And because ADUs are either attached to the main building or behind the main building, they allow extra housing options while maintaining the character of the neighborhood. This flexibility supports family cohesion and can increase economic security. This is particularly important to address families doubling up and being displaced as housing costs rapidly increase.

Providing more flexibility can also provide additional income, helping homeowners remain in place as an option to help address property tax increases. Both neighborhoods saw significant increases in property taxes between 2018 and 2020, with median property taxes rising 32.42% in Valverde, and 21.76% in Athmar Park. These were similarly high between 2015-2018, and the continued steep rise in property taxes makes longtime residents vulnerable to displacement. These changes create a new burden on underinvested neighborhoods, and ADUs offer opportunity to either stay in the neighborhood in a more affordable home or for residents to expand their property and add rental income to help pay for the quickly rising property taxes.

ADUs can also create opportunities to build generational wealth in historically marginalized communities. Families who were restricted in where they could buy a home at all for generations are now being priced out of the communities they built through rising housing costs, steep increases in property taxes, and predatory developers offering more than many families could have imagined for their homes and displacing them in the process. Allowing the option for building an ADU helps existing residents not only to stay in place, but to grow their wealth through renting a unit and to benefit rather than be displaced by the rise in property values that has accompanied recent attention and compensatory investment in the area.

Health metrics identified in the equity analysis cover direct service and resource access, but when considering family and community health holistically the stabilization and support this rezoning is intended to help catalyze has far reaching impacts on neighborhood and family health. The stress of unaffordable housing, doubled up households, and housing insecurity takes a toll on the health of our families; this rezoning seeks to alleviate some of that burden through removing one barrier to more housing solutions. Housing insecurity also frequently presents families with decisions about what bills to pay and can result in choices between medical care, food, or housing. Allowing for ADUs throughout these two neighborhoods creates opportunity for both more diverse and affordable housing options, as well as opportunities for long-time residents to build wealth and create new income streams, minimizing these kinds of choices and improving family and community health throughout the neighborhoods.

This rezoning will help create more opportunity for diverse housing options on the Westside and reduce barriers for those who would like to find ways to house their families in their own neighborhood. It will be an important tool in addressing the displacement and lack of affordability our community and these neighborhoods have been facing.

Council District 7
Athmar Park ADU Outreach and Engagement Summary

Athmar Park ADU Outreach Timeline

2017- Council District staff presented to the Athmar Park Neighborhood Association about what ADUs were and that rezoning was the only way to move forward. This was met with mixed reactions but created a core group of Athmar Park residents who wanted to discuss the issue further and work to educate the broader neighborhood about the benefits.

2018- West Denver Renaissance Collaborative released their ADU Handbook. This document and program created excitement in the Athmar Community and many property owners were disappointed to learn from our office that current zoning prohibited ADU construction on their property.

2019- With the update to Blueprint Denver that opened the door to single family home rezonings to allow ADUs, Council District 7 began to see interest in rezoning applications from homeowners in Athmar Park. These individual rezonings were cumbersome and expensive for homeowners and reignited the conversation about a neighborhood-wide rezoning.

Fall 2021- Athmar Park Neighborhood Association surveyed the neighborhood to gauge support for ADUs. This survey was filled out by 128 residents and showed overwhelming support. The survey was distributed via email and printed newsletters distributed to each house in the neighborhood boundaries

2021-2022- Council District 7 participated in the West Area Plan process through which we heard vast support for ADUs in Valverde, a community directly adjacent to and very similar to Athmar Park.

2022- As an offshoot of the West Area Plan, CPD and District 7 held a series of virtual open houses to discuss the topic with neighbors. While these open houses were not heavily attended, they were widely promoted and residents who did attend were supportive of a rezoning to allow ADUs.

October 2022- Council District 7 announced the pursuit of this rezoning to District 7 residents via digital platforms (e-news and Facebook) as well as a printed newsletter distributed to every home in the district.

To Whom it May Concern:

As the Councilmember representing Denver's District 7 which represents both the Valverde and Athmar Park neighborhoods I am excited to support this application to rezone those neighborhoods to allow Accessory Dwelling Units. ADU's are a proven way to preserve neighborhood character while creating more housing stock and allowing families to age in place.

When I began my first term as Councilmember, a small group of homeowners in these neighborhoods expressed interest in this type of rezoning but unfortunately the majority of the neighborhoods were not supportive. Over time several homeowners in the area have used the ability to individually rezone their properties to allow ADUs and organizations like West Denver Renaissance Collaborative have created educational materials that have been well received by community members.

In recent years as Community Planning and Development has done their community outreach for the West Area Plan it became clear that the Valverde neighborhood was ready to move forward with allowing ADU's. Simultaneously the Athmar Park Neighborhood Association has done extensive community outreach and surveying and discovered that their neighborhood is also poised for change.

It is with great excitement that I bring forward this rezoning on behalf of my community. This rezoning will clear at least one more hurdle for my constituents as they pursue improvements to their property.
