Legal Description

L 24 TO 30 INC BLK 14 VIADUCT ADD

LOT 24 TO 30, INCLUSIVE, BLOCK 14 VIADUCT ADDITION TO DENVER, CITY AND COUNTY OF DENVER STATE OF COLORADO

4295 N INCA ST Denver, CO 80211

This application encompasses one parcel of land under one owner. We are requesting a zoning change for this parcel located at 4295 N INCA ST, to C-RX-8 from I-A, UO-2. We are requesting this change in accordance with the adopted plans: Blueprint Denver, 41st & Fox Station, Comprehensive 2040 and the Sunnyside Neighborhood plan. All these plans have been approved by the City of Denver. These plans call for a maximum height of 8 stories and we are requesting the maximum to make the best use of this underutilized land. We are not requesting to maintain the UO-2 Billboard Use Overlay District.

Existing Context:

The parcel to the North is a public works substation and is currently Zoned: I-A, UO2. There are 2 parcels to the West. 990 W 43rd AVE is currently Zoned: I-A, UO2. 4232 N JASON ST is currently Zoned: C-RX-8. Directly south of the parcel is 4231 N INCA St, it is currently Zoned: I-A, UO2. The parcel to the south on the corner of 42nd AVE & INCA ST, 4211 N INCA ST, is currently Zoned: C-RX-8. The subject property is also adjacent to the following additional zoning: I-MX-8, G-MU-3, UO-3, AND U-TU-C. Please see the diagram for reference. (Subject property is outlined in red.)

Our concept for the zoning change on this parcel within the Sunnyside community is:

- Provide a natural transition from the transportation hub created by the Fox and 41st street station and burgeoning change along the edge of the Sunnyside neighborhood.
- Increase housing options, including affordable housing, and work opportunities for the neighborhood.
- Enhance safety along Inca and 43rd by improving the land use and providing accessible public space for walking and commuting.
- Transform the light industrial blocks along Inca Street and 43rd AVE to an urban residential area to coincide with the overall vision in Fox & 41st ST Station plan.
- Incorporate best practices related to Transportation Demand Management to reduce vehicular trips to the site.
- Design community around the walking & public transit, encouraging residents to use other forms of transportation.

Our development team has met with a number of the neighborhood stakeholders, including the Community Planning and Development Committee of Sunnyside United Neighbors Inc., as well as Councilwoman Amanda Sandoval, District 1. We presented initial plans for the redevelopment of the site, which have generally been well-received thus far. We anticipate continuing engagement with the neighborhood during the application process as well as during design and construction.

REVIEW CRITERIA:

1. Consistency with Adopted Plans

Three adopted plans guide the use and development of this property:

1. Denver Comprehensive Plan 2040 (2019)
2. Denveright – Blueprint Denver (2019)
3. 41st and Fox Station Area Plan (2009)
4. Sunnyside Neighborhood Plan (1992)

Denver Comprehensive Plan 2040 (2019)

This application follows the objectives and recommendations outlined in the Denver Comprehensive Plan 2040:

“Equitable, Affordable and Inclusive Goal 1 Strategy A - Increase development of housing units close to transit and mixed-use developments.” (p28) - Located 1 block from the pedestrian bridge to the Fox Street Station, the site affords the opportunity to provide new housing units in the immediate proximity of the transit station.

“Equitable, Affordable and Inclusive Goal 2 Strategy A - Create a greater mix of housing options in every neighborhood for all individuals and families.” (p28) -The proposed mixed-use zoning will allow for the inclusion of new transit-oriented residential units. The plan is for a market rate residential community with ground-floor retail. The development plan anticipates building a number of affordable units as part of the project.

“Equitable, Affordable and Inclusive Goal 3, Strategy B – Use land use regulations to enable and encourage the private development of affordable, missing middle and mixed-income housing, especially where close to transit.” (p29) - The development located close to transit anticipates the construction of both affordable units as well as market rate, attainable units within the development.

“Strong and Authentic Neighborhoods Goal 1, Strategy A - Build a network of well connected, vibrant, mixed-use centers and corridors.” (p34) - Located near the Zia development, an affordable and market-rate community, the proposed community will build on the assets and aesthetics found at Zia and other surrounding developments. The plan is incorporating streetscape and design to encourage the flow of residents from the Sunnyside Neighborhood as well as future residents in other higher density developments near the site to/from the transit station.

“Strong and Authentic Neighborhoods Goal 1, Strategy B – Ensure neighborhoods offer a mix of housing types and services for a diverse population.” (p34) - The development located close to transit anticipates the construction of both affordable units as well as market rate, attainable units within the development.

Economically Diverse and Vibrant Goal 3, Strategy A – Promote small, locally-owned businesses and restaurants that reflect the unique character of Denver.” (p46) - While zoning alone cannot achieve this goal, the proposed project will allow for the inclusion of limited neighborhood-serving ground floor retail.

“Environmentally Resilient Goal 8, Strategy A - Promote infill development where infrastructure and services are already in place.” (p54) - The site is located in an infill area where infrastructure and services exist. The team recognizes the unique issues facing the Sunnyside neighborhood related to transportation infrastructure. The development plan includes Transportation Demand Management strategies to minimize vehicular traffic and encourage bike and pedestrian oriented residents and amenities.

“Environmentally Resilient Goal 8, Strategy B – Encourage mixed-use communities where residents can live, work and play in their own neighborhoods.” (p54) - The new community will activate the predominately industrial site allowing for the development of a community where residents can live, work and play in the Sunnyside neighborhood.

“Environmentally Resilient Goal 8, Strategy C – Focus growth by transit stations and along high- and medium-capacity transit corridors.” (p54) - The 41st and Fox Station is the first stop from Union Station on the G Line and the B Line. The site meets plan guidance for increased density due to its immediate proximity to the transit lines.

Denverright\Blueprint Denver (2019)

Neighborhood Context – General Urban (p139) While the site is located in the General Urban context, the proposed development under C-RX-8 zoning meets the description for the General Urban context as described below.

The Urban Center context is appropriate at this location, because:

- a.) There are already several C-RX-8 sites zoned in the blocks between Inca and Jason Street. (see map on next page)

b.) The block immediately east of the site is being developed at 8 stories. This zoning will create a matching gateway to the pedestrian bridge.

c.) The General Urban context does not have an 8-story district that allows uses such as food sales or market, eating and drinking establishments, artist studio, or live work dwelling that are desired by the community.

Further, the Urban Center district provides more requirements around design standards and street activation, including no surface parking between the building and side street lesser setbacks, and greater build-to requirements, which are important for a site with the “greatest” access to transit as called out specifically in the intent of the C-RX design standards. The Denver Zoning Code recommends that “There are high levels of pedestrian and bicycle use with the greatest access to multi-modal transportation system” in the Urban Center context (7.1.5) than in the General Context which calls for “greater” access (6.1.5).

d.) The block is separated from single family residences allowing for a transition zone.

As noted above, the development will meet the characteristics of the General Urban context as identified in the plan in the following manner:

- “Predominately multi-unit structures.”
- “Block patterns are generally regular with consistent alley access.”
- “Buildings are medium scale and close to the street.”
- “High degree of walkability, bike-ability and good access to transit priority streets with little reliance on cars.”
- “Privately owned and publicly accessible outdoor space and plazas.”
- “Trees are within lawns/planting strips and expanded streetscape planting areas.”

2) Future Places Mapping - Blueprint Denver maps the site in the Residential High-Medium category (p143). The proposed zone district is consistent with the Residential High-Medium designation. Characteristics of Residential High Medium include:

- “Predominately multi-unit residential.”*
- “A mix of neighborhood-serving retail may also be found at key locations.”*
- “Mid-scale residential buildings usually mixed with a variety of lower scale residential types.”*
- “Access varies.”*

-“Multimodal networks are more accessible.”

3) Building Heights In both the General Urban and the Urban Center contexts, Residential High Medium places called for by Blueprint Denver, say, “buildings are generally up to 8 stories in height.” (p246) or “Heights are generally up to 8 stories.” (p260)

Factors to consider when applying Blueprint Denver building height guidance may include (p66):

- “Guidance from a current small area plan.” - There is support for 2-8 stories in the 41st and Fox Station Area Plan.
- “Surrounding context, including existing and planned building height.” – An 8-story development is under construction less than a half-block south of the site, and 8 story zoning exists across 42nd Avenue from the site.
- “Transitions, including transitions from higher intensity to lower intensity areas.” – There is a transition block between the site and the nearby single-family residential.
- “Adjacency to transit, especially mobility hubs.” – The site is 1 block to the transit station pedestrian bridge.
- “Achieving plan goals for community benefits, including affordable housing.” – The development will apply for the Build Alternative Rental Units option rather than paying the linkage fee.
- “Furthering urban design goals.” – The development will enhance the street-level experience along Inca ST and 43rd Avenue and provide activation in the 41st and Fox Station area.

4) Growth Strategy The site is included in the “all other areas of the city” category. These areas will see 20% of the housing growth and 10% of the commercial growth. Small area plan guidance strongly supports the redevelopment of this area as well as an area appropriate for increased density. (p51)

5) Street Types While the properties are located on undesignated local streets (p157). The orientation of the development is for a transit-oriented development. Planned Transportation Demand Management strategies will further the goals around bike and pedestrian mobility and work to mitigate concerns around vehicles. The requested zoning of C-RX-8 is consistent with general plan recommendations regarding focusing density around transit stations.

6) Plans Policies and Strategies (sometimes applicable). The design standards in the Urban Center context embrace the pedestrian experience and encourage bike and pedestrian mobility. A proposed Transportation Demand Management plan will help in the realization of this strategy. Inca Street and 43rd Avenue will be further enhanced “to create vibrant public spaces” (p170).

41st and Fox Station Area Plan

The property is within the boundaries of the 41st and Fox Station Area Plan adopted December 2009. The vision (of the plan), created through community input and transit-oriented development principles, provides the basis for five primary goals for the station area (pvii):

- “Improve pedestrian connections to the station, between neighborhoods, and along major corridors.” (pvii) - The proposed zoning will allow for the development of the site, including activating the edges between the building and street. C-RX-8 will allow for appropriately located retail services accessible to those walking to the station from the site and adjacent neighborhood.
- “Create opportunities to add more housing, jobs and services to the station area.” (pvii) - The RX zoning will add more housing to the area as well as the opportunity for jobs and services for the residents as well as the ground floor retail space.
- “Capitalize on the station area’s proximity to Downtown and location on the Gold Line and Northwest Rail corridors.” (pvii) - The site is located 7 minutes from downtown when accessed by commuter rail. Transportation Demand Management strategies will help ensure the site capitalizes on its proximity to the station area.
- “Balance the needs of new development and existing uses.” (pvii) - The proposed zoning respects the concept in the plan that “calls for the need to respect the existing housing along the edges of the Sunnyside neighborhood leading to Inca Street.” (pviii) - The site is located 1 block from the transit station’s pedestrian bridge. There is a transition block between the site and the single-family homes. This transition is called for in the plan.
- The plan calls for active edges and design elements of building ground floors to “help create a feeling of activity, safety and visual interest for pedestrians....The ground floor of all areas should contain the following elements.” (p18):
 - “Prominent, street facing entries.”
 - “Extensive ground floor windows and frequent entrances.”
 - “Pedestrian scaled facades.”

The proposed C-RX zone district is “intended to promote safe, active, and pedestrian-scaled, diverse areas through the use of building forms that clearly define and activate the public realm” (DZC 7.2.2.1.A)

The site is located in the “Urban Residential” context allowing for 8 stories. “These areas are intended as new, moderate-density neighborhoods.” (p16) - The plan recommends a range of heights for this context allowing for reduced height on parcels adjacent to neighboring single-family residences. This parcel, buffered by a transitional block, would match the height of the block immediately to the east.

Sunnyside Neighborhood Plan (1992)

The Sunnyside Neighborhood Plan was adopted in August of 1992 and included recommendations for the western portion of the area predating the planned Commuter Rail Station. Although the neighborhood plan was adopted prior to Blueprint Denver and the opening of the G Line and B Line, it contains several general recommendations that are still relevant, including:

- “Travel demand management is a key tool in making the existing transportation infrastructure more effective by reducing the demand for single-occupancy vehicle trips. Travel demand management is focused on promoting carpooling, vanpooling, transit use, bicycling, walking, teleworking and off-peak travel options over driving alone. The Denver Regional Council of Governments (DRCOG) currently offers a variety of services through its RideArrangers program to promote travel demand management on a regional level including a carpool-matching database, vanpool program, telework programs, regional campaigns such as Bike-to-Work Day, and employer-based promotion of alternative travel options.” (p23) - TDM is integral to the development plan and enabled by the rezoning of the site
- “Urban design techniques help create a friendly, livable environment. They knit the separate pieces of a neighborhood together and create a more unified feeling.” (p32) - The proposed zoning provides the ability to incorporate strong urban design concepts that embrace the neighborhood character and architecture. A focus on the street level experience provided for in the C-RX-8 zoning designation will help to enhance the experience along Inca Street and 43rd Avenue.
- “It is important for a neighborhood to be “pedestrian friendly”... Safe pedestrian access also encourages people to use their cars less and fosters a more intimate connection with the neighborhood.” (p39) - The rezoning to a category that encourages bike and pedestrian activity will transition the site from an industrial site with limited curb, gutter and pedestrian amenities to an area with sidewalks, amenity zones, and street activation.
- “The proximity of industrial uses to the neighborhood and the potential occurrence of environmental hazards is a concern for some residents.” (p42) - The proposed zoning district will help transition the site from industrial uses to a mix of housing and retail uses, thereby helping to mitigate the environmental hazard concern for some residents.
- “There are many infrastructure problems that need attention. Sidewalks, curb and gutter need to be replaced or put in for the first time. Drainage problems exist in the northeast section of the neighborhood. The lack of curb and gutter adds to the drainage problems. There are some streets in the industrial area that need to be paved. Open ditches exist in some areas of the neighborhood.” (p42) - The development of the site will address the infrastructure problems associated with the current land uses.

2. Uniformity of District Regulations and Restrictions

The proposed rezoning to C-RX-8 zone district will result in the uniform application of zone district building form use and design regulations. The building form and design regulations are appropriate for the site and will be applied uniformly with other C-RX-8 zone districts on the blocks to the south and east of this site.

3. Public Health, Safety, and Welfare

The proposed map amendment furthers the public health, safety and general welfare of the City by allowing reinvestment in an under-utilized property and by implementing the City’s adopted plans for the area. The rezoning allows redevelopment of an industrial site to a new, safe, walkable, pedestrian friendly environment next to a commuter rail station

4. Justifying Circumstances

The application identifies changed or changing conditions as the Justifying Circumstance under DZC Section 12.4.10.8.A.4, “The land or its surrounding environs has changed or is changing to such a degree that it is in the public interest to encourage redevelopment of the area or to recognize the changed character of the area.”

The area has been undergoing significant change, and consistent with these changing conditions, dense development around transit meets the public interest. A few of the recent investments that have changed the character of the area and site include:

- Opening of the G line and B Line
 - Zia Sunnyside - 434 Unit - 6 & 8 story rental and condo community
 - Future Denver Housing Authority Redevelopment - Bounded by Lipan/Pecos & 42nd/44th Streets

5. Consistency with Neighborhood Context, Description, Zone District Purpose and Intent Statements

The requested C-RX-8 zone district is within the Urban Center Neighborhood Context.

- 7.1.1 General Character “The Urban Center Neighborhood Context consists of multi-unit residential and mixed-use commercial strips and commercial centers. Multi-unit residential uses are typically in multi-story mixed use building forms. Commercial buildings are typically Shopfront and General forms. Multi-unit residential uses are primarily located along residential collector, mixed-use arterial, and local streets. Commercial uses are primarily located along main and mixed-use arterial streets.”
- 7.2.3.1 General Purpose
 - A. “The Residential Mixed-Use zone districts are intended to promote safe, active, and pedestrian scaled, diverse areas through the use of building forms that clearly define and activate the public realm.
 - B. The Residential Mixed-Use zone districts are intended to enhance the convenience, ease and enjoyment of transit, walking, shopping and public gathering within and around the city’s residential neighborhoods.
 - C. The Residential Mixed-Use zone district standards are also intended to ensure new development contributes positively to established residential neighborhoods and character, and improves the transition between commercial development and adjacent residential neighborhoods.
 - D. Compared to the Mixed-Use districts, the Residential Mixed-Use districts are primarily intended to accommodate residential uses. Commercial uses are secondary to the primary residential use of the district, and provide neighborhood-scaled shops and offices for residents to conveniently access goods and services within walking distance. Buildings in a Residential Mixed-Use district can have Street Level retail uses, but upper stories are reserved exclusively for housing or lodging accommodation uses. A building can be solely residential or solely commercial; however, buildings containing only commercial uses are limited in total gross floor area to 10,000 Square feet consistent with the district purpose.” 7.3.3.2 Specific Intent

The requested rezoning is generally consistent with the neighborhood context description and zone district purpose and intent especially related to:

- 7.1.1 General Character
 - Multi-unit residential uses are typically in multi-story mixed use building forms.
 - Promote safe, active, and pedestrian scaled, diverse areas through the use of the building forms that clearly define and activate the public real.
 - Multi-unit residential uses are primarily located along residential collector, mixed-use arterial, and local streets.
- 7.2.3.1 General Purpose
 - The Residential Mixed-Use zone districts are intended to enhance the convenience, ease and enjoyment of transit, walking, shopping and public gathering within and around the city’s residential neighborhoods.
 - The Residential Mixed-Use zone district standards are also intended to ensure new development contributes positively to established residential neighborhoods and character, and improves the transition between commercial development and adjacent residential neighborhoods.

- Commercial uses are secondary to the primary residential use of the district, and provide neighborhood-scaled shops and offices for residents to conveniently access goods and services within walking distance.
- Buildings in a Residential Mixed-Use district can have Street Level retail uses, but upper stories are reserved exclusively for housing or lodging accommodation uses.
- 7.3.3.2 Specific Intent
 - C-RX-8 applies to the residentially-dominated areas served primarily by collector or arterial streets where a building scale of 2 to 8 stories is desired. The site is accesses the nearby arterial at 38th Ave four blocks south and the collector at N Lipan ST two blocks west. While N Inca ST and 43rd Avenue are undesignated local streets, the intent notes that the areas are “served primarily by” collectors and arterials, but not exclusively.

For the reasons outlined within this narrative, we respectfully ask that the City approve the requested zoning change to the subject parcel.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Re: Rezoning of 4295 N. Inca St. – Case #2020I-00172

Sunnyside United Neighbors offers this letter of support for the rezoning application of 4295 N. Inca St. to C-RX-8. Once in 2019 and again in January of 2020, at our monthly Sunnyside United Neighbors Planning and Community Development meeting, Sophium Development presented plans for their project at 4295 Inca St. In both cases there were concerns raised about the details of the design and the materials to be used. The developer was responsive and in each case was willing to make revisions and come back at a future meeting.

A third presentation was made, and a vote taken at our February 13, 2020, meeting. There was broad agreement that the additional work done by the developer had improved the project. The vote of support amongst the residents in attendance was unanimous; 14 – 0.

In summary, I am glad to offer Sunnyside United Neighbor's formal support for the project given the plans that have been submitted.

Best regards,

Bill Hare
