2. Property Tax Valuation

Keith Erffmeyer, City Assessor, explained that the process his office uses to assess the value of property is largely proscribed by state law. He reviewed the data collection time frame, noting that 38,000 sales occurred during that period. His staff distributed maps of where the sales have occurred for residential property and said they could develop a similar map for commercial property. He reviewed the median value changes ranging from 32% for condos to 22.5% for row houses for residential property. He discussed how the Gallagher amendment affects the actual tax assessment, noting that the recent state reduction in assessed valuation rate to 7.2% actually results in about a 9% reduction in the property tax bill. Staff answered questions from Councilmembers and discussed the available rebate programs for low income seniors and the disabled. Councilwoman Kniech asked for a simple time line to help people understand the city process, their appeal process, and the timeline for the rebate programs both on the state and local levels.

3. Discussion: bonding capacity vs alternative strategies for funding maintenance and infrastructure.

Brendan Hanlon, Chief Financial Officer, presented a municipal bond overview noting the existing debt capacity. With valuation increases, there is an increased capacity for debt. He reviewed the key assumptions in determining the 2017 bonding capacity. He reminded the Committee that once debt is issued and funds received, 85% must be spent within 3 years so timing for shovel-ready projects is important. He noted that the City will need to increase staffing to administer projects efficiently with a larger bond issue of up to $900 million. He presented a property tax bill noting that most of the bill is not from the City, but the highest proportion is paid to the school district. He answered questions from Councilmembers.
