

Erin Trapp is the Deputy Chief of Staff to Mayor Guillermo Vidal in the City and County of Denver. Prior to this position, she served for four years as Director of the Denver Office of Cultural Affairs, a city arts agency that advances the arts and culture in Denver through cultural infrastructure development and public programs. Before joining the City, she served as Deputy Director for the Western States Arts Federation, overseeing technology and research programs to implement strategic technology programs and strengthen the arts infrastructure in the Western United States. Dr. Trapp also brings experience in corporate management at Merrill Lynch as a chief-of-staff for Merrill Lynch Private Client. She currently serves on the boards of Arts for Colorado, the Clyfford Still Museum, the Denver Biennial of the Americas and Swarthmore College. Author of several academic articles related the sociology of arts and culture, Dr. Trapp holds a Ph.D. in Sociology from the University of Colorado-Boulder and a B.A. from Swarthmore College. She lives in Denver with husband Patrick and daughter Stella.