Dear Denver City Council members –

Thanks for your time and consideration. I'm reaching out to encourage you to vote YES on the proposed rezoning for 1001 and 1003 S. Pearl St.

The City's Comprehensive Plan and Blueprint Denver provide very clear support for the adaptive reuse of older institutional and religious buildings. The proposed rezoning is a creative solution to save the existing structure while providing the neighborhood with predictability through a very limited use list.

I could understand opposition if the applicant was proposing to rezone to a main street district with a large use list. Instead, they spent years negotiating with the neighborhood on a whopping three additional, neighborhood serving uses. Simply put, this rezone will be a benefit and not a detriment to the neighborhood.

Enough with the NIMBYISM. Vote yes on this rezoning please!

Sincerely,
Christina Wayman

First, thank you for all that you do for our City. Please know that your service does not go unnoticed and is greatly appreciated.

I wanted to send a quick note and encourage you to support the rezoning application for 1001 S. Pearl. This rezoning application is the culmination of thoughtful negotiations with the property owner and neighborhood. The rezoning will promote walkability and adaptive reuse while limiting impacts such as traffic and parking concerns. This is a positive outcome that I believe raises the bar in terms of creativity and community outreach.

Denver City Council Members:

I'm writing as a 29 year Wash Park resident to encourage you to support the rezoning request for 1001 S. Pearl St.

Over the last two years, the applicant and his representatives have worked closely with CPD and the community to craft a thoughtful PUD that will bring attractive, neighborhood serving uses to the area. As you're probably aware, the PUD would allow just three additional uses beyond what's allowed under the current zoning. Having a doctor's office or art gallery that you can walk to would be a benefit to the area.

The PUD also incentivizes the adaptive reuse of the existing building as those commercial uses go away if the structure is ever voluntarily demolished. By keeping the building standing, the applicant is actually proposing to LIMIT impacts to adjacent neighbors vs. the alternative which would likely be demo and years of construction for two large homes. By keeping the residential unit above the church, the applicant is also providing a unique and cheaper living option in this neighborhood. This is exactly the type of creative live/work scenario the city should be support and I hope you'll do just that with a yes vote on this rezoning request.

Thank you for your time and thoughtful consideration.

Sincerely,

Hello Councilman Clark – Please support 1001 S. Pearl rezoning and encourage your colleagues to do the same.

I’m writing as a constituent with the hope that you’ll see how thoughtful and beneficial this rezoning will be to the West Wash Park community. I understand change is hard, but adding three additional neighborhood serving uses on top of the existing zoning for this property will not negatively impact OUR neighborhood. Rather, it will promote greater walkability, provide opportunity for small business owners and give us greater access to healthcare and the arts. Those are uses that benefit communities, not harm them.

Thanks for your time and please SUPPORT this rezoning.

Hello Councilman Clark and Denver City Council Members:

I'm writing as a constituent with the hope you'll support the proposed rezoning at 1001 S. Pearl. If our city is serious about reducing our environmental impact and promoting more walkable neighborhoods, then this is exactly the kind of proposal you need to support. Having limited commercial uses within residential neighborhoods promotes walkability and provides people with the flexibility to get out of their cars. I hope this request serves as a model for future rezonings of church properties where adaptive reuse is a great outcome.

Thanks for your time and please support this rezoning request.

Dear Councilman Clark

I'm writing to you as a constituent and a nearby resident to encourage you to support the rezoning request for 1001 South Pearl St.

West Washington Park is one of the most desirable neighborhoods in Denver because of its walkability. Having a mix of uses within neighborhoods invites residents to walk, bike and roll to their destination. With our growing climate crisis, we need complete, 10-minute neighborhoods now more than ever.

Furthermore, it's my understanding that the proposed rezoning promotes the adaptive reuse of the existing church building. It's extremely important to our environment and the character of Denver that we look at more creative ways of preserving structures. This proposal does just that by allowing a very limited and negotiated list of additional uses on top of the existing zoning. Those uses are only allowed if the property owner preserves the building. This is exactly the type of creative thinking we need as more and more churches are closing their doors.

Simply put, this proposal is better for the environment, the walkability of our neighborhood and our general welfare. I hope you and your colleagues will strongly support it.

Best,

Hello Councilman Clark – Before delving into my support for the 1001 S. Pearl rezoning, I wanted to take the opportunity to thank you for your service over the past seven years. We’ve sincerely appreciated your thoughtful representation which will certainly be missed.

I hope you’ll support the rezoning of the church at 1001 S. Pearl St and encourage your colleagues to do the same. The property owner (not a developer) has spent over two years working closely with our community on a list of negotiated uses that will benefit West Wash Park. These uses include a medical/dental office, art studio and office space. Having these kinds of low intensity uses in our neighborhood only serves to benefit our community. If we want a walkable city where we are less reliant on our vehicles, then we need more low intensity commercial uses dispersed in residential neighborhoods.

I think it’s really exciting that the property owner wants to save the existing church and I was even more pleased to learn that the commercial uses in the PUD are a “carrot” for him to do so. It’s my understanding that the limited commercial uses are not allowed if the building goes away. This is a creative way to save a building that’s been in the neighborhood longer than most of the residents living around it.

Again, thank you for your consideration and all you do for lucky District 7. Please support this rezone.

I'm writing as a West Wash Park resident to encourage you to vote yes on the rezoning of 1001 and 1003 S. Pearl St.

The applicant and his team spent a considerable amount of time working with our neighborhood on a very predictable proposal that will hopefully add neighborhood serving to our community. As COVID showed us, it's extremely important to provide ample access to health care and particularly services that residents can walk to. Whether it's a doctor, an art gallery or creative office, this proposal represents an extremely thoughtful compromise that should be used as a model for future church rezonings in this city.

Thank you for all that you do and for your consideration. Support this proposal please!

Councilman Clark – First off, I'd like to thank you for your service and leadership over the past few years. We appreciate all that you do for our community.

I wanted to send you a quick note and encourage you and your colleagues to support the rezoning request for 1001 S. Pearl. Our neighborhood is one of the most desirable in Denver because of its walkability and access to shops, restaurants and neighborhood services. Adding limited, low-intensity uses will not harm our neighborhood, but rather bolster the community. No one loves going to the dentist or the doctor, but it wouldn't hurt to have additional health care options in the neighborhood or a cool office space/art gallery! Walkable destinations are important for our city and environmental goals.

Please vote yes on this smart rezoning proposal!

Dear Denver City Council Members,

I am writing in favor of the rezoning application for the property at 1001 S. Pearl St. which will change the zoning to a Planned Unit Development (PUD) from U-SU-B. The PUD will have a base zoning of U-SU-B, its previous zone district, but will add the option of three commercial uses which are office, medical/dental, and arts/recreation.

Adding these commercial uses greatly increases the chance that the existing property will be adaptively re-used and not scraped. It's important for historic buildings to have flexibility in use, as it provides a greater range of options for rehabilitation and ensures they can adapt to meet the needs of an ever-changing city. We are also confident that the rezoning does not create any threats to the structures because the PUD incentivizes retaining the existing structure. The limited commercial uses will only apply to the existing structure on the property. If the church is ever torn down then the commercial uses will no longer be applicable to the property, and it will function as the standard U-SU-B zone district.

The church was built in 1960 for the South Denver United Pentecostal congregation and later served the Christian Assembly and Front Range Bible Church. It has been a fixture at the corner of S. Pearl and S. Tennessee St. for over sixty years. Churches often function as community spaces and are recognizable buildings in the neighborhoods they serve. The building, though no longer functioning as a church, still helps to tell the neighborhood's history and adds to its architectural character.

Historic Denver is pleased to support this effort as the additional commercial uses will increase the likelihood the structure is adaptively reused and retained. Please feel free to contact me with any questions.

Sincerely,

Councilman Clark:

I wanted to send you a quick email and convey my support for the rezoning request at 1001 S. Pearl Street.

As you and your colleagues know all too well, rezoning cases are never easy... particularly with these church properties. I think the proposal before you should serve as a model on how to treat these properties until planning staff undertakes a city-wide overhaul. Instead of going with your basic main street zone district (which has an extremely long list of allowable uses), the applicant worked with the neighborhood to provide predictability by allowing just three, low-intensity uses. Furthermore, incentivizing adaptive reuse of the existing building limits impacts such as construction and also puts less strain on the environment.

Compromise is never easy and pleasing everyone is impossible. With that said, I believe this is a thoughtful proposal that you and your colleagues should support.

Dear Denver City Council Members – I'm writing to encourage you to support the thoughtful rezoning of 1001 and 1003 S. Pearl St in the West Wash Park neighborhood.

My husband and I chose to live in this neighborhood because of its charm and walkability. We are fortunate enough to have the ability to leave the car at home and can patron restaurants, shops and other services that are close by. The proposed rezoning seeks to promote adaptive reuse of a church building that's been in the neighborhood for over 50 years by allowing a very limited list of low intensity commercial uses and certainly ones that are less intense than a church with weekly events/services. Having a doctor, dentist or art gallery in our neighborhood would only improve our public health and welfare.

The applicant has bent over backwards to work with the West Wash Park neighborhood on a thoughtful compromise. I hope you recognize all that effort and how closely this rezoning proposal aligns with your review criteria which talks specifically about creative ways to promote the reuse of old church structures.

Thank you for your time and consideration and I hope you'll support this rezoning.

Hello Councilman Clark,

First off, I want to thank you for being such a strong representative for our community. We sincerely appreciate it. I am following up on my last sentiments regarding my support for the rezoning at 1001 S. Pearl.

I wanted to send you a quick email and encourage you to support the 1001 S. Pearl rezoning. My wife and I moved to the neighborhood because of its strong walkability and a great mix of neighborhood serving commercial uses. It would be great to have the current church building preserved and it's my understand this rezoning would promote the adaptive reuse of the existing structure. With Denver changing rapidly, it's great to see a property owner who is willing to work closely with the neighborhood to illicit this type of creative outcome. Seems like a no brainer to me and I hope you feel the same way! Thanks again for taking the time to hear me out. It's appreciated!

Kind regards,

Will Steck

Members of Denver City Council,

I am writing in support of the proposed rezoning at 1001 and 1003 S. Pearl St. in Denver. The property owner's request to create a PUD to allow the church building to be repurposed is a great solution to maintain neighborhood character and provide additional office space.

The property owner has spent nearly two years working closely with our community and I support the list of additional uses for the property. They will add to the vitality and walkability of the neighborhood and stave off yet another opportunity for high rise apartment development with inadequate parking/infrastructure in an already over developed City.

Please vote in favor of the rezoning.

Respectfully,

Jill Christensen and Rachel Ledesma
