Supportive Housing

Jamie Rife, HOST Executive Director

Details about Supportive Housing, Homelessness Resolution Continuum

Supportive Housing combines apartments where residents pay rent based on income, along with on-site and community-based services to help individuals and families transition out of long-term homelessness back to having a safe place to call home. Research shows this form of housing is an effective way to end homelessness because it provides safe, stable homes with access to support from professionals who help residents coordinate services unique to their needs, which may include mental or physical health services, addiction treatment, job training, and more.

Details about HOST's Investment in Supportive Housing

HOST provides Supportive Housing investments in one to three* ways:

Construction gap financing

HOST's target gap investment for PSH developments is $45,000/unit. This higher level of investment helps solve the gap in tax credits and private debt created because of the lower rents and higher operating costs.

Tenant supportive services

HOST invests in supportive services in PSH developments with a grant of $1,500/unit/year over a 15-year contract. PSH developments are required to provide no fewer than $7,200/unit/year in tenant services.

Project-based Homeless Resolution vouchers

HOST may provide an investment of locally-funded, project-based vouchers in PSH developments through a 20-year voucher contract. These vouchers are tied to the unit, rather than the tenant, ensuring that all tenants occupying a vouchered unit will pay no more than 30% of their income toward rent. HOST utilizes the CO Division of Housing annual voucher payment standard and supplements traditional Housing Choice Vouchers.

*Additionally, the D3 bond program was created to jumpstart the PSH pipeline and constitutes a portion of HOST's budget

The Shelter Success Task Force, comprised of shelter providers, people with lived experience as a shelter guest, advocates, and city staff will be discussing each of these 6 challenge areas:

- Shelter Staff Hiring and Retention
- Need for More Consistent and Thorough Staff Training
- Safety and Security in and Around Shelters
- Processes for Managing Guest Complaints

- Support Needed for Special Populations including LGBTQ+, and Couples

These areas were identified after extensive interviews conducted earlier this year by HOST (including of people experiencing homelessness, advocates, shelter partners, and city agencies).

SSTF is meeting monthly beginning in June 2024, with the purpose of developing a list of recommendations for improvements in these identified areas.
