Scope of work:
The goal of the Denver PSSF project is to serve 60-80 unduplicated families through a contracted partnership with community-based agency (Savio House) and in collaboration with the Colorado Post Adoption Resource Center (COPARC) and the Denver Collaborative Partnership (DCP). The project is a community based collaborative effort that incorporates the values and principles of teamwork to engage families, bring the perspective of the family into the assessment and case planning process, and monitor the success of plans. The evidence-based practice of intensive case management will be utilized for this program. Denver will see more children remain in the care of parents who have gained the necessary skills to keep their children safe, an increase in the number of children who exit care to reunification, and a decrease in post adoption disruptions.
