RE: Rezoning Application, 4120, 4124, 4128, 4130, 4136, 4140, 4150, 4158 N. Jason St.

Dear Community Planning and Development,

This is an application for a map amendment/rezoning of the properties located at 4120, 4124, 4128, 4130, 4136, 4140, 4150, 4158 N. Jason St. in the City and County of Denver. We are requesting to rezone the property from the current industrial zoning of I-A, UO-2 to C-RX-8 under the Denver Zoning Code to develop a mixed-use community one block from the 41st and Fox station transit bridge in the Sunnyside neighborhood. We are not requesting to maintain the UO-2 Billboard Use Overlay District.

Our vision for the community is to:

- Leverage our immediate proximity to transit.
- Enhance safety in the area by activating the site, especially along Jason and 42nd Street (developer does not control 41st and Jason St. corner).
- Provide neighborhood-serving retail at the southern corner of our site easily accessible by residents headed to and from the transit station.
- Embrace the neighborhood character through thoughtful, contextual design and materials.
- Create a public place with easy access to transit information.
- Incorporate best practices related to Transportation Demand Management to reduce vehicular trips to the site.
- Design a community attractive to residents less likely to own cars.
- Incorporate affordable housing within the market-rate development.

Our development team has met with a number of the neighborhood stakeholders, including the Community Planning and Development Committee of Sunnyside United Neighbors Inc., as well as Councilwoman Amanda Sandoval, District 1 and Councilwoman Deborah Ortega, At-Large. We presented initial plans for the redevelopment of the site, which have generally been well-received thus far. We anticipate continuing engagement with the neighborhood during the application process as well as during design and construction.

Review Criteria

1. Consistency with Adopted Plans

Three adopted plans guide the use and development of this property:

1. Denver Comprehensive Plan 2040 (2019)
2. Denveright – Blueprint Denver (2019)
3. 41st and Fox Station Area Plan (2009)
- 4) Sunnyside Neighborhood Plan (1992)

Denver Comprehensive Plan 2040 (2019)

This application is consistent and advances the following objectives and recommendations outlined in Denver Comprehensive Plan 2040:

“Equitable, Affordable and Inclusive Goal 1 Strategy A - Increase development of housing units close to transit and mixed-use developments.” (p28) - Located 1/2 block from the pedestrian bridge to the Fox Street Station, the site provides the opportunity to provide new housing units in the immediate proximity of the transit station.

“Equitable, Affordable and Inclusive Goal 2 Strategy A - Create a greater mix of housing options in every neighborhood for all individuals and families.” (p28) - The proposed mixed-use zoning will allow for the inclusion of new transit-oriented residential units. The plan is for a market rate residential community with ground-floor retail. The development plan anticipates building a limited number of affordable units as part of the project.

“Equitable, Affordable and Inclusive Goal 3, Strategy B – Use land use regulations to enable and encourage the private development of affordable, missing middle and mixed-income housing, especially where close to transit.” (p29) - The proposed rezoning will allow for more variety of housing types in the area and close to transit. The development anticipates construction of both affordable units as well as market rate units at a range of price points.

“Strong and Authentic Neighborhoods Goal 1, Strategy A - Build a network of well connected, vibrant, mixed-use centers and corridors.” (p34) - Located next to the Zia development, an affordable and market-rate community, the proposed community will build on the assets and aesthetics found at Zia. The development plan is incorporating streetscape and design to encourage the flow of residents from the Sunnyside Neighborhood as well as future residents in other higher density development near the site to/from the transit station.

“Strong and Authentic Neighborhoods Goal 1, Strategy B – Ensure neighborhoods offer a mix of housing types and services for a diverse population.” (p34) - The proposed zone district will allow development of new housing types located close to transit. Project plans presented to the community anticipate the construction of both affordable units as well as market rate units at a range of sizes and bedroom counts.

Economically Diverse and Vibrant Goal 3, Strategy A – Promote small, locally-owned businesses and restaurants that reflect the unique character of Denver.” (p46) - While zoning alone cannot achieve this goal, the proposed project will allow for the inclusion of limited neighborhood-serving ground floor retail. The development team is actively pursuing local retail concepts for the ground floor services.

“Environmentally Resilient Goal 8, Strategy A - Promote infill development where infrastructure and services are already in place.” (p54) - The site is located in an infill area where infrastructure and services exist. The team recognizes the unique issues facing the Sunnyside neighborhood related to transportation infrastructure. The development plan includes Transportation Demand Management strategies to minimize vehicular traffic and encourage bike and pedestrian oriented residents and amenities.

“Environmentally Resilient Goal 8, Strategy B – Encourage mixed-use communities where residents can live, work and play in their own neighborhoods.” (p54) - The new community will activate the predominately industrial site allowing for the development of a community where residents can live, work and play in the Sunnyside neighborhood. The development plan is anticipating ground floor live-work units. Live-work units are permitted (with limitations) in the C-RX-8 zone district.

“Environmentally Resilient Goal 8, Strategy C – Focus growth by transit stations and along high- and medium-capacity transit corridors.” (p54) - The 41st and Fox Station is the first stop from Union Station on the G Line and the B Line. The site meets plan guidance for increased density due to its immediate proximity to the transit lines.

1) Neighborhood Context – General Urban (p139)

While the site is located in the General Urban context, the proposed development under C-RX-8 zoning meets the description for the General Urban context as described below.

The Urban Center context is appropriate at this location, because:

- A. There are already several C-RX-8 sites zoned in the blocks between Inca and Jason Street.
- B. The block immediately south of the site is being developed at 8 stories. This zoning will create a matching gateway to the pedestrian bridge.
- C. The General Urban context does not have an 8-story district that allows uses such as food sales or market, eating and drinking establishments, artist studio, or live work dwelling that are desired by the community. Further, the Urban Center district provides more requirements around design standards and street activation, including no surface parking between the building and side street lesser setbacks, and greater build-to requirements, which are important for a site with the “greatest” access to transit as called out specifically in the intent of the C-RX design standards. The Denver Zoning Code recommends that “There are high levels of pedestrian and bicycle use with the greatest access to multi-modal transportation system” in the Urban Center context (7.1.5) than in the General Context which calls for “greater” access (6.1.5).

- D. The block is separated from single family residences allowing for a transition zone.

As noted above, the development will meet the characteristics of the General Urban context as identified in the plan in the following manner:

- “Predominately multi-unit structures.”
- “Block patterns are generally regular with consistent alley access.”
- “Buildings are medium scale and close to the street.”
- “High degree of walkability, bike-ability and good access to transit priority streets with little reliance on cars.”
- “Privately owned and publicly accessible outdoor space and plazas.”
- “Trees are within lawns/planting strips and expanded streetscape planting areas.”

2) Future Places Mapping - Blueprint Denver maps the site in the Residential High-Medium category

(p143). The proposed zone district is consistent with the Residential High-Medium designation. Characteristics of Residential High Medium include:

- “Predominately multi-unit residential.”*
- “A mix of neighborhood-serving retail may also be found at key locations.”*
- “Mid-scale residential buildings usually mixed with a variety of lower scale residential types.”*
- “Access varies.”*
- “Multimodal networks are more accessible.”*

3) Building Heights

In both the General Urban and the Urban Center contexts, Residential High Medium places called for by Blueprint Denver, say, “buildings are generally up to 8 stories in height.” (p246) or “Heights are generally up to 8 stories.” (p260)

Factors to consider when applying Blueprint Denver building height guidance may include (p66):

- “Guidance from a current small area plan.”* - There is support for 2-8 stories in the 41st and Fox Station Area Plan.
- “Surrounding context, including existing and planned building height.”* – An 8-story development is under construction less than a half-block south of the site, and 8 story zoning exists across 42nd Avenue from the site.
- “Transitions, including transitions from higher intensity to lower intensity areas.”* – There is a transition block between the site and the nearby single-family residential.
- “Adjacency to transit, especially mobility hubs.”* – The site is nearly adjacent to the transit station pedestrian bridge.
- “Achieving plan goals for community benefits, including affordable housing.”* – Concurrent with the rezoning, we (applicant) have signed a voluntary affordable housing agreement, which requires 10% of units at 80% AMI for a 99-year period of affordability.
- “Furthering urban design goals.”* – The development will enhance the street-level experience along Jason Street and 42nd Avenue and provide activation in the 41st Avenue area.

4). Growth Strategy

The site is included in the “all other areas of the city” category. These areas will see 20% of the housing growth and 10% of the commercial growth. Small area plan guidance strongly supports the redevelopment of this area as well as an area appropriate for increased density. (p51)

5) Street Types

While the properties are located on undesignated local streets (p157), the orientation of the development is for a transit-oriented development. Planned Transportation Demand Management strategies will further the goals around bike and pedestrian mobility and work to mitigate concerns around vehicles. The requested zoning of C-RX-8 is consistent with general plan recommendations regarding focusing density around transit stations.

6) Plans Policies and Strategies (sometime applicable).

The design standards in the Urban Center context embrace the pedestrian experience and encourage bike and pedestrian mobility. A proposed Transportation Demand Management plan will help in the realization of this strategy. Jason Street and 42nd Avenue will be further enhanced “to create vibrant public spaces” (p170).

6a) Equity Concepts

Blueprint Denver identifies key equity concepts designed to measure access to opportunity, vulnerability to displacement, and housing and jobs diversity (p67). Blueprint Denver notes, “Because all of the measurements include data not available at the parcel-level scale, and are intended to show patterns across large areas, they cannot be effectively applied to small-scale rezonings. Given the above, they are not intended to be applied to small-scale rezonings” (p31). However, it is important to recognize the site context related to equity and how the rezoning and anticipated development can contribute to improving outcomes for the neighborhood. Existing Analysis from Blueprint Denver indicates the following (Blueprint Denver Executive Summary and Annual Report 2020):

i) The area has moderate Access to Opportunity scoring a 2.56 out of 5. One of the most significant factor impacting the score is the lack of access to commercial center and corridors. The proposed rezoning to a residential mixed-use district will allow for neighborhood-serving commercial uses on the ground floor, thereby increasing access to commercial amenities and services for the neighborhood.

ii) The area’s Vulnerability to Displacement score is a 2 out of 3 indicating that the area has two factors of vulnerability. The proposed map amendment is accompanied by a signed voluntary affordable housing agreement securing affordable units at a quantity higher than is required by the Build Alternative to the linkage fee and will provide affordability for 99 years in an effort to avoid displacement of cost-burdened households that wish to remain in the neighborhood. Similarly, in an effort to mitigate displacement of local businesses, the proposed development presented to the community is anticipating offering subsidized rent levels on nearly half the commercial space.

iii) The area scores 3 out of 5 on Housing Diversity indicating a relatively diverse housing mix in the measurement area. The area lacks diversity in middle-density housing and the number of affordable units. The proposed rezoning will increase the diversity of housing types by allowing more multi-unit housing in the area.

Overall the proposed map amendment and subsequent development will foster development that will help to improve the Area’s equitable outcomes including providing new commercial services to residents, housing unit diversity.

41st and Fox Station Area Plan

The property is within the boundaries of the 41st and Fox Station Area Plan adopted December 2009. The vision (of the plan), created through community input and transit-oriented development principles, provides the basis for five primary goals for the station area (pvii):

41st and Fox Station Area

“Improve pedestrian connections to the station, between neighborhoods, and along major corridors.” (pvii) - The proposed zoning will allow for the development of the site, including activating the edges between the building and street. C-RX-8 will allow for appropriately located retail services accessible to those walking to the station from the site and adjacent neighborhood.

“Create opportunities to add more housing, jobs and services to the station area.” (pvii) - The RX zoning will add more housing to the area as well as the opportunity for jobs and services for the residents through the provision of the ground floor retail space. Further, the proposed zone district will allow for live-work units, which are anticipated to be included in the proposed development.

“Capitalize on the station area’s proximity to Downtown and location on the Gold Line and Northwest Rail corridors.” (pvii) - The site is located 7 minutes from downtown when accessed by commuter rail. Transportation Demand Management strategies will help ensure the site capitalizes on its proximity to the station area.

“Balance the needs of new development and existing uses.” (pvii) - The proposed zoning respects the concept in the plan that “calls for the need to respect the existing housing along the edges of the Sunnyside neighborhood leading to Inca Street.” (pviii) - The site is located a half-block from the transit station’s pedestrian bridge. There is a transition block between the site and the single-family homes. This transition is called for in the plan.

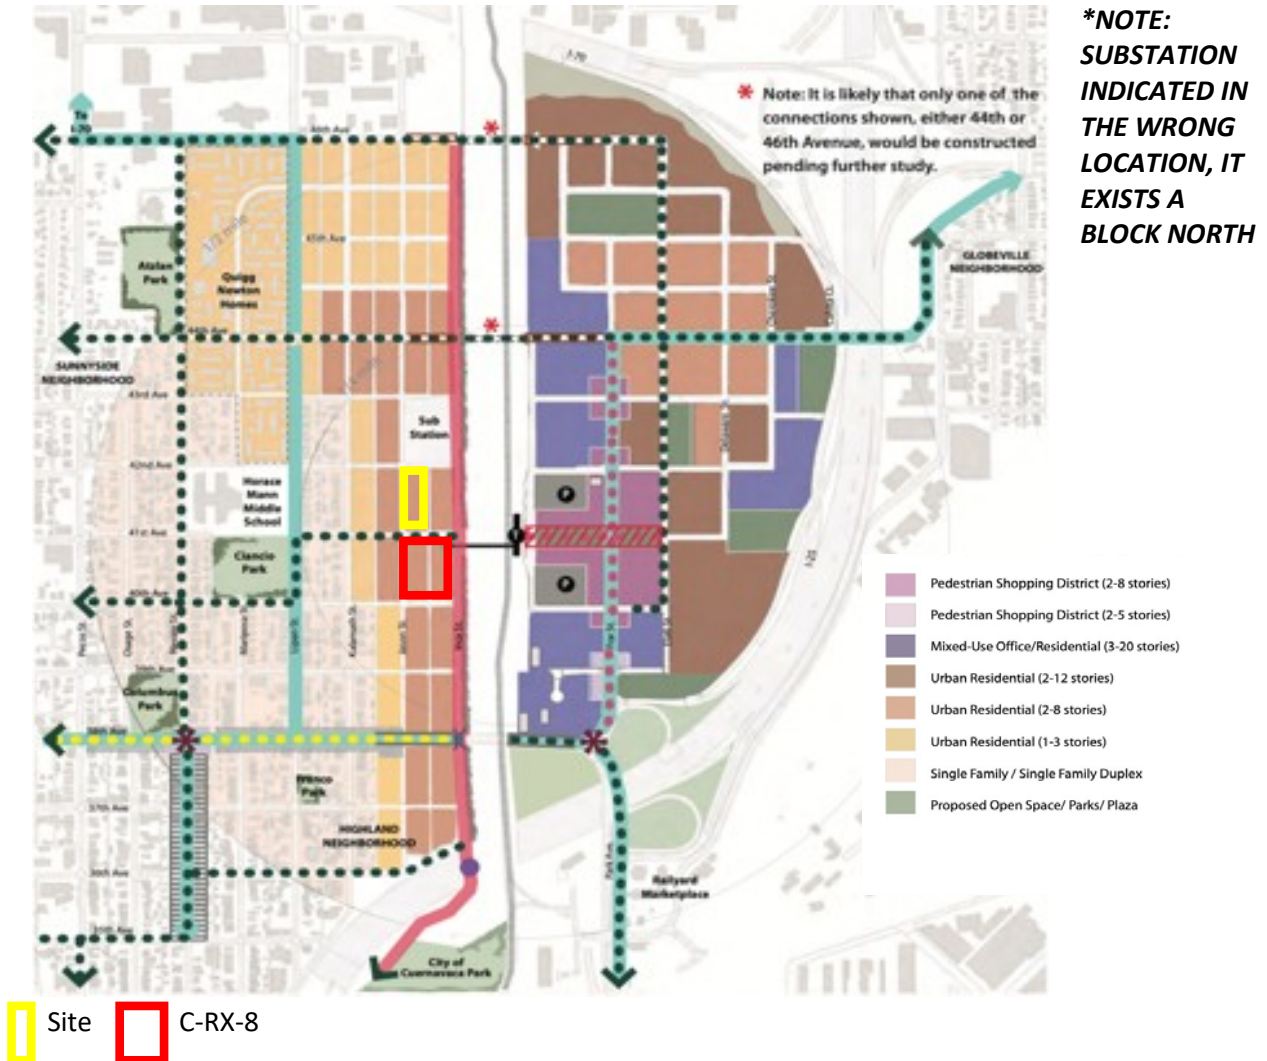

The plan calls for active edges and design elements of building ground floors to “help create a feeling of activity, safety and visual interest for pedestrians....The ground floor of all areas should contain the following elements.” (p18):

- “Prominent, street facing entries.”
- “Extensive ground floor windows and frequent entrances.”
- “Pedestrian scaled facades.”

The proposed C-RX zone district is “intended to promote safe, active, and pedestrian-scaled, diverse areas through the use of building forms that clearly define and activate the public realm” (DZC 7.2.2.1.A)

Land Use and Circulation Plan Concept

The site is located in the “Urban Residential” context allowing for 8 stories. “These areas are intended as new, moderate-density neighborhoods.” (p16) - The plan recommends a range of heights for this context allowing for reduced height on parcels adjacent to neighboring single-family residences. This parcel, buffered by a transitional block, would match the height of the block immediately to the south.

Sunnyside Neighborhood Plan (1992)

The Sunnyside Neighborhood Plan was adopted in August of 1992 and included recommendations for the western portion of the area predating the planned Commuter Rail Station. Although the neighborhood plan was adopted prior to Blueprint Denver and the opening of the G Line and B Line, it contains several general recommendations that are still relevant, including:

“Travel demand management is a key tool in making the existing transportation infrastructure more effective by reducing the demand for single-occupancy vehicle trips. Travel demand management is focused on promoting carpooling, vanpooling, transit use, bicycling, walking, teleworking and off-peak travel options over driving alone. The Denver Regional Council of Governments (DRCOG) currently offers a variety of services through its RideArrangers program to promote travel demand management on a regional level including a carpool-matching database, vanpool program, telework programs, regional campaigns such as Bike-to-Work Day, and employer-based promotion of alternative travel options.” (p23) - TDM is integral to the development plan and enabled by the rezoning of the site.

“Urban design techniques help create a friendly, livable environment. They knit the separate pieces of a neighborhood together and create a more unified feeling.” (p32) - The proposed zoning provides the ability to incorporate strong urban design concepts that embrace the neighborhood character and architecture. A focus on the street level experience provided for in the C-RX-8 zoning designation will help to enhance the experience along Jason Street and 42nd Avenue.

“It is important for a neighborhood to be “pedestrian friendly”... Safe pedestrian access also encourages people to use their cars less and fosters a more intimate connection with the neighborhood.” (p39) - The rezoning to a category that encourages bike and pedestrian activity will transition the site from an industrial site with limited curb, gutter and pedestrian amenities to an area with sidewalks, amenity zones, and street activation.

“The proximity of industrial uses to the neighborhood and the potential occurrence of environmental hazards is a concern for some residents.” (p42) - The proposed zoning district will help transition the site from industrial uses to a mix of housing and retail uses, thereby helping to mitigate the environmental hazard concern for some residents.

“There are many infrastructure problems that need attention. Sidewalks, curb and gutter need to be replaced or put in for the first time. Drainage problems exist in the northeast section of the neighborhood. The lack of curb and gutter adds to the drainage problems. There are some streets in the industrial area that need to be paved. Open ditches exist in some areas of the neighborhood.” (p42) - The development of the site will address the infrastructure problems associated with the current land uses.

2. Uniformity of District Regulations and Restrictions

The proposed rezoning to C-RX-8 zone district will result in the uniform application of zone district building form use and design regulations. The building form and design regulations are appropriate for the site and will be applied uniformly with other C-RX-8 zone districts on the blocks to the south and north of this site.

3. Public Health, Safety, and Welfare

The proposed map amendment furthers the public health, safety and general welfare of the City by allowing reinvestment in an under-utilized property and by implementing the City's adopted plans for the area. The rezoning allows redevelopment of an industrial site to a new, safe, walkable, pedestrian-friendly environment next to a commuter rail station.

4. Justifying Circumstances

The application identifies changed or changing conditions as the Justifying Circumstance under DZC Section 12.4.10.8.A.4, "The land or its surrounding environs has changed or is changing to such a degree that it is in the public interest to encourage redevelopment of the area or to recognize the changed character of the area."

The area has been undergoing significant change, and consistent with these changing conditions, dense development around transit meets the public interest. A few of the recent investments that have changed the character of the area and site include:

- Opening of the G Line and B Line.
- Zia Sunnyside – 434 Unit – 6 & 8 story rental and condo community opening in 2020.

-Future Denver Housing Authority Redevelopment – Bounded by Lipan/Pecos & 42nd/44th Streets.

5. Consistency with Neighborhood Context Description, Zone District Purpose and Intent Statements

The requested C-RX-8 zone district is within the Urban Center Neighborhood Context.

7.1.1 General Character

"The Urban Center Neighborhood Context consists of multi-unit residential and mixed-use commercial strips and commercial centers. Multi-unit residential uses are typically in multi-story mixed use building forms. Commercial buildings are typically Shopfront and General forms. Multi-unit residential uses are primarily located along residential collector, mixed-use arterial, and local streets. Commercial uses are primarily located along main and mixed-use arterial streets."

7.2.3.1 General Purpose

*"A. The Residential Mixed-Use zone districts are intended to promote safe, active, and pedestrian scaled, diverse areas through the use of building forms that clearly define and activate the public realm.
B. The Residential Mixed-Use zone districts are intended to enhance the convenience, ease and enjoyment of transit, walking, shopping and public gathering within and around the city's residential neighborhoods."*

C. The Residential Mixed-Use zone district standards are also intended to ensure new development contributes positively to established residential neighborhoods and character, and improves the transition between commercial development and adjacent residential neighborhoods.

D. Compared to the Mixed-Use districts, the Residential Mixed-Use districts are primarily intended to accommodate residential uses. Commercial uses are secondary to the primary residential use of the district, and provide neighborhood-scaled shops and offices for residents to conveniently access goods and services within walking distance. Buildings in a Residential Mixed-Use district can have Street Level retail uses, but upper stories are reserved exclusively for housing or lodging accommodation uses. A building can be solely residential or solely commercial; however, buildings containing only commercial uses are limited in total gross floor area to 10,000 square feet consistent with the district purpose."

7.3.3.2 Specific Intent

The requested rezoning is generally consistent with the neighborhood context description and zone district purpose and intent especially related to:

7.1.1 General Character

- Multi-unit residential uses are typically in multi-story mixed use building forms.
- Promote safe, active, and pedestrian scaled, diverse areas through the use of building forms that clearly define and activate the public realm.
- Multi-unit residential uses are primarily located along residential collector, mixed-use arterial, and local streets.

7.2.3.1 General Purpose

- The Residential Mixed-Use zone districts are intended to enhance the convenience, ease and enjoyment of transit, walking, shopping and public gathering within and around the city's residential neighborhoods.
- The Residential Mixed-Use zone district standards are also intended to ensure new development contributes positively to established residential neighborhoods and character, and improves the transition between commercial development and adjacent residential neighborhoods.
- Commercial uses are secondary to the primary residential use of the district, and provide neighborhood-scaled shops and offices for residents to conveniently access goods and services within walking distance.
- Buildings in a Residential Mixed-Use district can have Street Level retail uses, but upper stories are reserved exclusively for housing or lodging accommodation uses.

7.3.3.2 Specific Intent

C-RX-8 applies to residentially-dominated areas served primarily by collector or arterial streets where a building scale of 2 to 8 stories is desired." The site accesses the nearby arterial at 38th Ave three blocks south and the collector at N. Lipan St two blocks west. While N. Jason St. and 42nd Avenue are undesignated local streets, the intent notes that the areas are "served primarily by" collectors and arterials, but not exclusively.

Re: Initial Design Plan for 4100 Block of Jason Street

Tim,

On October 17, 2019, at our monthly Sunnyside United Neighbors, Planning and Community Development meeting, Prime West and their Architectural firm, Ratio Design, presented initial plans for your proposed development of the 4100 block of Jason Street. Approximately 14 Sunnyside residents were in attendance, as well as Councilwoman Sandoval. There was robust discussion amongst those in attendance and a consensus was that the plan is a good addition to the neighborhood. The following were the primary points of discussion:

- Neighbors liked the stepdown design to townhouse style units on the northwest corner.
- Neighbors liked the street level activation with the lobby and especially the presumed food/beverage establishment with a corner courtyard that faces an existing cidery.
- There was discussion of wanting more retail square footage which led to further discussion about being able to convert lobby and/or garage square footage to retail if the demand is there.
- Neighbors liked the use of quality building materials and the “thoughtful design” aesthetic.
- Neighbors agreed that offering a larger percentage of income restricted affordable units than what is required, would be looked at favorably (though no specific direction was offered).

Re: Rezoning of 4120-4158 N Jason St.

Sunnyside United Neighbors offers this letter of support for the rezoning application of 4120-4158 N. Jason Street to C-RX-8, application number 2019I-00174.

On November 6th of last year we offered our preliminary support of this project. Preliminary support was based on a unanimous vote taken October 17, 2019, at our monthly Sunnyside United Neighbors, Planning and Community Development meeting. Prime West and their Architectural firm, Ratio Design, presented initial plans for their proposed development. Fourteen Sunnyside residents were in attendance, as well as Councilwoman Sandoval. There was robust discussion amongst those in attendance and a consensus was that the plan is a good addition to the neighborhood. The following were the primary points of discussion:

- Neighbors liked the stepdown design to townhouse style units on the northwest corner.
- Neighbors liked the street level activation with the lobby and especially the presumed food/beverage establishment with a corner courtyard that faces an existing cidery.
- There was discussion of wanting more retail square footage which led to further discussion about being able to convert lobby and/or garage square footage to retail if the demand is there.
- Neighbors liked the use of quality building materials and the “thoughtful design” aesthetic.

A second presentation was made, and a vote taken at our February 13, 2020, SUNI PCD Meeting. Again, the overwhelming discussion was in support of the project and again, the vote of support amongst the residents in attendance was unanimous; 16 – 0. Of specific note, many residents were very pleased with the number of affordable units that had been negotiated to be part of the development.

In summary, I am glad to offer Sunnyside United Neighbor's formal support for the project given the plans that have been submitted.

Best regards,

Dear Ms. Weigle,

Northeast Transportation Connections (NETC)'s mission is to work with the public and private sectors to reduce single occupant vehicle (SOV) travel, to improve mobility, and to establish sustainable transportation throughout the NE Denver area by creating, supporting, and promoting an array of transportation options for commuters, residents, students, and visitors.

As you know, Prime West Development desired to be proactive in mitigating potential parking and traffic impacts to the Sunnyside community prior to seeking rezoning and site design of the 4120-4158 N. Jason St. site. We take a holistic approach to our thinking and are focused on the intersections between the built and lived in order to successfully integrate transit and active transportation. As such, we cannot thank them enough for this opportunity to work in tandem with the Development Team to create a Transportation Demand Management (TDM) plan that integrates mobility solutions in every phase of development.

NETC is most proud that the Prime West leaned into creating TDM solutions informed by the direct feedback from multiple community and stakeholder outreach meetings. We strongly believe the greatest mobility experts are those that are living and working in this community, and we are grateful for their contributions, patience, and knowledge.

We are memorializing our work by assembling a TDM plan which promotes realistic single occupant vehicle (SOV) mobility alternatives while understanding that the built environment is key to the sustainability and success of such TDM measures. This plan could be utilized, in theory, by property management to sustain the components and monitor usage should 4120-4158 N. Jason St. be realized.

There are internal built components like a secured bike room for residents and a "transit corner" with a transit screen and other mobility options located in the lobby. There are external built components which require coordination with Denver and the neighborhood, such as dedicated rideshare drop-off/pick-up zones and wayfinding signs. There are operational components like giving every resident a Neighborhood EcoPass (NECO) for the first year. Lastly, there are components that are a mix — that take place physically on the property but require coordination with the City or third party providers, like a scooter/dockless bike box that can add mobility options while preserving street parking for residents and visitors who have to drive.

Integrating transit into the operations of the development requires more than proximity, and Prime West is committed to a NECO for all residential tenants in the development community for the first year, barring any dramatic changes to RTD's program. Currently many people drive alone because that is the only realistic way for them to get around, and it starts to become 'normal' even when other affordable, accessible, and safe options exist. Providing the NECO for that first year can help shape the first interactions getting around, in essence creating a sense that it is 'normal' to not drive everywhere alone.

An activated walking and biking experience requires more than a sidewalk. This project has built-environment and street activation components that will make people want to get out of their cars while providing recognizable physical points of interest. In our experience these elements create a sense of place that can add amenities to the amazing Sunnyside community rather than detracting, all while honoring the extensive planning processes that neighbors have already engaged in.

We will explore scenarios with third party mobility providers — from dockless scooters and bikes to evolving service models and dedicated carshare. This space is evolving, but NETC will advise Prime West as it solidifies in the near future.

TDM is about moving people around places, and we know there is a critical connection to the built environment in order for TDM solutions to be successful. People must feel safe and welcome to engage with the environment; mobility options must be available and accessible for everyone; and we must provide additive, realistic options to ensure usage. Although the mobility space has changed significantly since we began advising the Team, the principles have not: that mobility should enhance spaces, not degrade them; that mobility must provide safe, affordable options that can be accessed by all; and that mobility must have convenience that rivals a SOV's in order to be a sustainable alternative.

Please do not hesitate to contact Karly Andrus with any questions or concerns. Thank you for your time and service to our community.

With Regards,

Elizabeth,

I am contacting you to provide my support of the Prime West Development project at 42nd & Jason St. As a Sunnyside resident since 2006, I have experienced the evolution of our neighborhood. Gone are the days of painting over dumpster graffiti and referring to the neighborhood as 'Highlands' because Sunnyside was unknown.

In reviewing the plans, I find the design to be aesthetically appealing and a welcome addition to the neighborhood. Beyond the support and feedback from the Sunnyside United Neighbors, I would like to mention other benefits I feel the project might offer.

- Convenient access to public transportation. With the number of large capacity residential properties increasing in the area, easy access to public transportation will become increasingly important.
- The properties across the alley and street currently support non-residential business therefore the redevelopment should not have a negative impact on neighbors.
- Additionally residential capacity which will provide a positive financial impact to business in Sunnyside and surrounding neighborhoods.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if I can provide additional information.

Thank you,

Dear Ms. Weigle,

I own the business located next door to the proposed development of the 4100 block of Jason Street. From early on, the Prime West team has been in regular communication with us regarding their plans. As a small business owner, I view the redevelopment of this site as a great addition to the neighborhood. Specifically, it will help solve several issues we face as a small business owner:

- with more pedestrians and eyes on the street it will add to safety of the neighborhood
- more retail space as designed will complement our operations with new patio and retail space
- the addition of new residents will help our business

Particularly in this time, I urge your support of the proposed project at 4100 Jason Street as I believe it would serve as a catalyst for small business support throughout the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Weigle,

As the business owner of Work Shop Denver, located at 4373 Jason St., I have 20 years of experience in successfully operating a small business. With that history, I have seen the Sunny Side neighborhood evolving over time into a mixed-use community with the addition of more people, and with that, more eyes, on the street – a trend that overall leads to a safer environment for both residents and businesses.

I believe the project being proposed for the 4100 block of Jason St. would be a valuable addition to the neighborhood. Bringing more residents into the area means more business support for all local businesses, including mine. In addition, greater use of the light transit station would undoubtedly bring more visitors to the area which would lend additional support to all businesses.

For these reasons I urge your support of the rezoning and redevelopment of the block of 4100 Jason St.

Sincerely,

Brad Weiman

Re: Rezoning of 4120-4158 N. Jason St.

Ms. Weigle,

As a resident of the Sunnyside neighborhood in Northwest Denver, I am writing this letter in support of the rezoning of 4120-4158 N. Jason St. by the applicant, Prime West Development.

Because of the investments made by the city in rail infrastructure and transit, this site is an ideal location to add high-density housing. All new housing supply will help with the overall affordable housing issues the city is facing. Parcels in close proximity to transit represent ideal opportunities to pursue this goal.

Further, the adjacent uses across the alley and across the street are presently not residential, so the redevelopment of this block will not directly have a negative impact on neighbors.

In summary, I am in favor of the project rezoning at 4120-4158 N. Jason St.

Many thanks.

Dear Elizabeth,

My name is Alvaro Bonilla, I am the owner of Art's Auto Body Shop located at 4125 Jason Street, Denver, Colorado 80211. I have been at this location for 14 years.

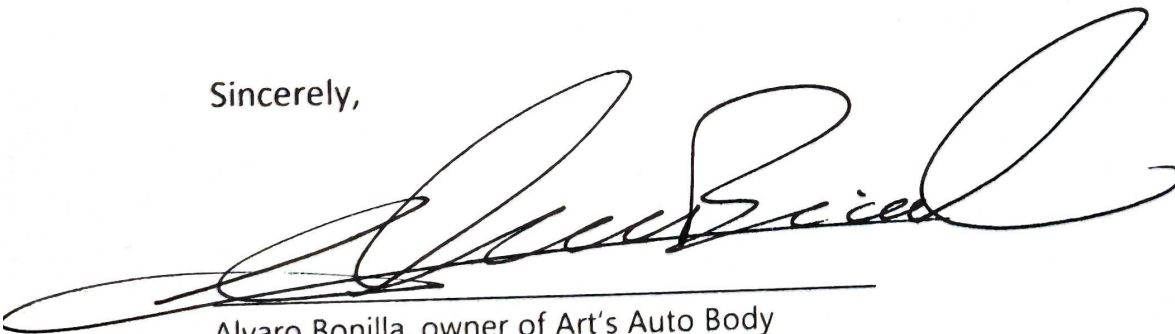

Last year, a new project started one block down from my business called Zia. This will add 430 new residential units for people in Denver to live and bring many new residents to the Sunnyside neighborhood. This will be good for the businesses in the area.

There is a new proposed project that will be built by Prime West directly across the street from my business. While the construction has made it hard to access some of the businesses sometimes, including mine, this is temporary. This project is a good addition to the neighborhood.

It will also be nice to see people using the 41st and Fox Station light rail pedestrian bridge that the city spent taxpayer money to construct. People aren't using the bridge very much because you have to walk through an industrial area to get to it. This project will help to change that.

These changes are good and should help everyone in the area including me. I support the redevelopment of the 4100 block of Jason Street in my neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Weigle,

As residents of the Sunnyside neighborhood, we have been looking forward to a new development near the 41st & Fox station bridge which we believe will help activate that part of the neighborhood and the transit station. This will be augmented by the addition of retail shops as part of the development at the gateway to the transit platform which will provide much needed amenities to the neighborhood along with more pedestrians and connectivity.

The developers of the project have been accessible and forthcoming with their plans, listening to our input and making changes that benefit those of us that live, work and play in the community.

We hope you will support the proposed rezoning and development of the 4100 block of Jason St.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Weigle,

I have owned the property located at 4101 Inca Street in the Sunnyside neighborhood for eight years. When the City of Denver began building the transit system and added a station at 41st and Fox, I recognized that the neighborhood would change from an industrial area to a pedestrian friendly mixed-use community. I have followed the change and recent development occurring in the area, and the project being proposed in the 4100 block of Jason Street appears appropriate for the neighborhood and its specific location.

I appreciate that the developer, Prime West, developed a Transportation Demand Management program to mitigate traffic concerns. I would like to acknowledge that Prime West is proposing exactly what should be developed at and around the mass transit stations. These types of development are great for the neighborhood and will lead to more people using the light rail station which is a goal we all support.

I support this rezoning and urge your approval.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Weigle,

As a member of the Martinez family who owns the property at 1001 W. 42nd, I operate the business UPM Mechanical at this location. Prior to that, my parents ran their family -owned business NM Industrial at that site. Our property and business is kitty-corner to the proposed development in the 4100 Jason block. Over the course of the past 10 years we have seen the neighborhood begin to change, especially with the addition of a mixed-use community as well as the light rail transit station.

I view the proposed development of this project as a positive addition to both the neighborhood and the community at large. It will bring more people to support businesses in general, allow for greater usage of light rail, and provide a greater sense of safety with those additions.

As such, I support this proposed rezoning and redevelopment of 4100 Jason St. and urge you to approve it.

Sincerely,

RE: Rezoning of 4120-4158 N Jason St.

YIMBY Denver is writing in support of the rezoning at 4120-4158 N Jason St. to C-RX-8. This is a standard rezoning in line with adopted area plans that will have minimal impact on existing residential units. The developers have also obtained the support of the local RNO (SUNI) through negotiations, but the most important reason to back this rezone is because of the contribution of badly needed affordable “BMR” units without the use of city subsidies.

Denver City Council currently has no legislative mechanism to enforce the creation of BMR units so negotiations with HOST are how these units can be added to projects. The value of the contributed units is 10x higher than a payment to the linkage fee- and even more in this case as one BMR unit is going to be three bedrooms, and subsidized commercial space is also going to be included.

While 80% AMI units don’t fill every need, they do provide homes for teachers, nurses, construction workers, and many other families in Denver. It’s also important to draw a distinction between contributed units like these, and units built with limited city tax credits and funds. Again, these units will be built at no additional taxpayer cost and will free up city money for lower AMI units. Predictability is vital to the production of BMR units and since this project has met the actual standards in Denver’s codes and laws it should be approved.
